Care home plan may go back to council

PLANS to close three care homes and build two multi-million pound 'centres of excellence' could be sent back before council bosses amid concerns they are not big enough.

The state-of-the-art facilities will be built in Lichfield and Burton in the proposals from Staffordshire County Council.

Elderly people in Bracken House, Burntwood will be among those moving under the proposals. They would have to move about five miles to Lichfield. Three homes with a total of 109 beds, would be shut by 2017.

Sufficient

However, there are fears residents will be disrupted and families could find it difficult to travel further. But 12 councillors have called in the plans to be scrutinised at the corporate review committee next week.

Cannock Council leader George Adamson, who is among those calling in the proposals, said: "We don't think these will be sufficient to meet the needs of the area. The increase in capacity is not enough."

The council's cabinet agreed to push ahead with the plans last month after agreeing to approve the company Symphony as the preferred bidder.

Carnival has a war theme

THOUSANDS of people are expected to flock to the Cannock Carnival on Saturday.

The annual event will feature dozens of stalls, rides and face painters to keep youngsters entertained.

The theme is the First and Second World Wars. A procession of floats will leave Chase Leisure Centre in Stafford Road and make its way to the town centre via Church Street.

Music will be provided by Dance Bitz and the Black Watch Band.

Poor trading blamed for restaurant closure

Bistro 95, High Green, Cannock

A CANNOCK restaurant has closed its doors suddenly and gone into administration with the blame put on 'poor trading'.

Bistro 95 has closed and a message posted on its Facebook page said directors had been reluctantly forced to shut.

An administrator has been appointed and the company will be dissolved, according to the post.

The restaurant, in High Green, has been trading for two years.

A message, which was posted by

Bistro 95 on its Facebook page on Friday, said: "Unfortunately due to poor trading the directors were reluctantly forced to vacate the premises."

"After meeting with our accountants on Tuesday an administrator was appointed and the company will be dissolved."

"Our other businesses are unaffected by this move. We would like to thank all previous customers for their support and custom throughout the past two years."

Previous customers praised the 'excellent service and food' which the traditional English eatery had offered and many said it was a shame that it had closed.

Catherine Hiley wrote on the restaurant's Facebook page: "Real shame, enjoyed some lovely lunches there in recent months."

Carol Owen said: "So sorry to hear this, it was the nicest place to eat in Cannock by far!"

Gayle Mountford Roe also said she was 'gutted'.

She posted: "Had some lovely evenings with you, such a shame to lose a lovely local restaurant."

"Now I know why you cancelled our table on Tuesday evening."

Louise Jones added: "This is a real shame, since first eating there a couple of months back I have visited most weekends, great food and ambience.... Where will I go to have my gorgeous gammon and pineapple fritters?"

Restaurant bosses were unavailable for comment.

Fears are heard for hours cut at library

CAMPAIGNERS fear opening hours could be cut at libraries as part of a wider review of services.

Staffordshire County Council was this week launching a 12-week consultation on handing over control of 24 smaller libraries to volunteers – a move which will save £1.3m.

A bid to derail the proposals by opposition Labour councillors failed at a meeting where bosses could have decided to scrutinise the move further.

The consultation is looking at whether community groups could take over libraries in Brereton, Heath Hayes, Hednesford, Norton Canes, Great Wyrley, Cheslyn Hay and Penkridge.

Reduced

Other bigger libraries would be classed as 'core' including Cannock and Rugeley. But when asked if these could see reduced hours, Councillor Roger Lawrence told the council's corporate review committee: "We just don't know at the moment."

The full impact on staff is not clear, but the council says there will be redundancies if the plans go ahead.

Hednesford and Rawsley Labour councillor George Adamson said: "These are frighteningly worrying proposals."

Skydivers will boost Amber

STALLHOLDERS in Cannock have boosted a young girl's fundraising drive.

Amber Porterfield, aged five, has spastic diplegic cerebral palsy and needs treatment in St Louis, Missouri, to help her walk unaided. Her family must raise £60,000 and indoor market traders have made a combined contribution.

Jayne Boothman, a jeweller at InShops, Cannock, will join Amber's mother Susanna and others for a skydive this weekend.

CRISIS CLAIM OVER GP LACK

PATIENTS in Cannock Chase are facing a healthcare 'time bomb' because of a desperate lack of family doctors, health chiefs have warned.

The district has the fewest number of GPs in the county and the situation is set to be plunged into further crisis as 60 per cent of family doctors serving the area are over 50 years-old and set to retire.

There are also problems with recruiting new GPs with only four training practices across the Cannock Chase area meaning support for new doctors is in short supply.

And the Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), which is in charge of healthcare, is looking to make cutbacks after overspending by more than £9 million last year.

Group chairman Dr Johnny McMahon has issued a 'call to action' to all GPs saying a failure to make 'radical' changes would see patient care put at risk.

Prospect

He said: "In primary care we are sitting on a demographic time bomb with a disproportionate number of practitioners soon facing retirement with little prospect of them being replaced."

"Many of my colleagues are clearly overworking and this is not sustainable. Patient expectation is understandably and quite rightly rising and practice income is dropping and the CCG has a huge deficit which we have a statutory obligation to address by tightening up on contracts and financial governance but also by disinvesting from services."

"Therefore it is not an exaggeration to say that we are 'in crisis'."

There are currently 27 GP practices in

Report by Rob Gollledge

Cannock Chase serving approximately 133,000 residents. But many are small with low patient numbers which means they struggle to cope with increasing pressure.

There are 67 GPs with 18 over 60 years-old, including one aged over 70 years-old.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "We are in a deeply worrying position in Cannock Chase."

"Personally I cannot understand it but Cannock Chase gets a very poor deal when it comes to healthcare so we need some form of urgent action for the health and wellbeing of our residents."

Dr McMahon said: "We can do one of two things. We can throw in the towel and say this is not our problem."

"This will inevitably result in primary care withering till the care of patients and the quality of our working day will both be entirely unsatisfactory. Or, we can say we are prepared to do very radical things to get us out of this crisis."

Date for fresh inquest on cyclist

A SECOND inquest into a cyclist who died after a blunder by doctors at Stafford Hospital will resume in September. John Moore-Robinson, aged 20, died in April 2006 after medics failed to spot his ruptured spleen following a mountain bike accident on Cannock Chase. The narrative verdict recorded at the first inquest by South Staffordshire Coroner Andrew Haigh was quashed after new evidence came to light. The High Court granted the family permission for a new coroner's hearing. It was adjourned but will resume on September 22 and is expected to conclude within four days. A pre-inquest hearing in Leicester last week ruled a statement from a staff nurse will be included in the evidence. John's father Frank said: "It has been eight years since our son died. That's a long time to wait for justice but it will be worth it if we get the answers we need." John, from Sileby, Leicestershire, bled to death less than 24 hours after being sent home from Stafford Hospital. Friends had voiced shock at the standard of care he received. He was assessed just twice in three-and-a-half hours. The fresh inquest is being handled by Leicester City and South Leicestershire Senior Coroner Mrs Catharine Mason.

Survey into use of Minor injuries Unit

A HEALTH body is commissioning a survey on Cannock's under-threat Minor Injuries Unit.

Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group wants to know why people use it and how the service can be improved.

Doctors on the cash-strapped commissioning group had planned to shut the unit in a bid to save £750,000.

GPs had offered to take over the service from September 1, taking it in turns to provide afternoon appointments while organising an out-of-hours provider for evenings and weekends.

But county health bosses deferred a decision asking for more details on the proposed move.

A workshop will now be held on July 24 between the council and GPs to discuss ways to redesign the service.

Speaking at a CCG meeting in Hedgesford, boss Andrew Donald said: "We want to find out why people use the unit instead of going to their GP or visiting A&E."

Feedback "I think some patients in Cannock Chase do not know where to go, whether it's the MIU, A&E, their local GP or calling the non-emergency 111 number, so the survey will give us some good feedback."

The workshop will enable us to come up with options to decide what will happen to the unit and how we can improve it."

The CCG plans to rename the unit Minor Illnesses, to better reflect its use. Under the plan, GPs would continue with their morning surgeries as normal and then go on a rota for the MIU service, the Healthy Staffordshire select committee heard last week.

A public consultation will take place in August and a number of meetings will be arranged to discuss the proposals.

Mr Hudson said: "The key message was that in their view the hospital is safe but only just safe."

"We have been managing on a day to day weekly basis, bearing in mind the pressures that we're under. "They pointed out fine the work they saw at the trust and recognised the absolute fragility of the service."

Trust chief executive Maggie Oldham said the CQC team also acknowledged the efforts of the staff to keep it functioning.

Mrs Oldham said: "I was pleased to hear that we are operating on a safe basis."

Barmaid's beauty title hopes

Shari Lane, who is in the UK final of Miss International and Miss Intercontinental

A BARMAID from Penkridge is bidding to become Miss International after qualifying for this weekend's UK finals.

Shari Lane has been fundraising to raise her profile in the run up to the finals.

She is currently raising money for British Heart Foundation, Cancer Research and Beechwood Cancer Care Trust, for whom she recently did an eight-mile walk.

The 20-year-old qualified fitness instructor and personal trainer, who works at the Cross Keys pub in her home village, has also been studying dance at University of Wolverhampton for the past year.

Miss Lane said: "I applied about a month ago and heard back about a week later."

"This is my first pageant and I am excited to have made it to the final."

"It is a great achievement and I cannot wait to meet all of the other girls."

The final, where she will be competing as Miss Stafford International, is being held at The Palace Hotel in Manchester on Sunday (July 13).

Campaign leads to seizure of vehicles

MORE than 2,250 vehicles have been seized in a crackdown on car insurance dodgers in Staffordshire.

The Cars Behind Bars initiative was instigated by Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis. The campaign, carried out by Staffordshire Police, has seen 2,254 cars, vans, motorcycles, mopeds, lorries and even a tractor seized – with around a third of these scrapped – since it was launched in May 2013.

Mr Ellis said: "Since its launch a year ago, the crackdown on insurance dodgers has been far and away the most popular thing raised with me."

"Over 2,250 people have now had to learn their lesson the hard way thanks to tremendous work by officers."

Cars Behind Bars uses Staffordshire's extensive automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) system that identifies those flouting the law.

Staffordshire Chief Superintendent Jon Drake said: "Staffordshire has an extensive ANPR system which allows us to identify vehicles that are uninsured, as well as those that have no tax or suspected of being involved in other crimes."

College backs cheese contest

SOUTH Staffordshire College is taking a lead role as a sponsor in the Cheese Factor film competition.

The contest owes its existence to the 2012 London Olympics, which inspired an award-winning "Farmers on Film" idea about British food for the British Games.

It aims to find the world's best farmers and cheese makers and has attracted entries from Ecuador, Afghanistan and the USA as well as Staffordshire.

Presentations will be made at the International Cheese Awards in Nantwich, Cheshire on July 29.

Olympic champion in rifle club visit

AN Olympic champ proved a hit when she dropped in on a Rugeley club.

US shooter Jamie Gray was a Gold medal winner at London 2012 and was invited to Rugeley Rifle Club to pass on her tips. The 30-year-old was recently forced to retire from the sport because of a back injury.

Club captain and vice chairman Martyn Buttery said: "Not every day do you ladies team get the chance to be coached by the current Olympic champion but Jamie, being a friend of mine, was visiting the UK on business and when I asked her if she could come and visit and conduct a training session for our girls she jumped at the chance."

He added: "All of the ladies thoroughly enjoyed the evening and all learned a little something from one of the sport's true greats."

Team member Phoebe Taylor said: "Jamie is a fantastic shooter and a really nice person. We all thank her for her time with us, she is a true champion."

Rugeley Rifle Club, based in Wharf Road, currently has around 110 members ranging in age from 10 to 85. For details, e-mail rugeleyrifleclub.org for the attention of chairman Vic Tyne.

Cash raised in duck race

MORE than 100 people flocked to see a duck race that raised more than £500 for charity.

The event was held by the Rugeley Lions in Brook Square. Money raised went to the club's charity fund.

Lions president Tim Burgin said: "Tickets sold extremely well and we also had the support of the Rugeley Traders Association."

"We would like to thank the public and the traders for their support."

Traders decorated ducks which were displayed for the public to vote on their favourites.

Cricket team scores hospice fundraiser

The St Giles cricket team

A CRICKET team has reformed after a 15 year absence to raise money for a leading charity.

The St Giles Hospice team disbanded back in 1999. Over an eight-year period it played regular games in aid of the hospice. It was initially formed to take on Abbots Bromley Cricket Club in May 1991. And last week the two teams renewed their rivalry, raising £500. The St Giles team now plans to raise a further £1,500 with future games.

Wayne Murcott, managing director of diecasting firm JVM Murcott suggested the St Giles team reform. He said: "We may all be a little older than when we last played, but the need to fund St Giles is even more important now than it was 20 years ago."

"We're aiming to play at least four times this season and plan to raise in excess of £2,000 for the hospice."

In the recent Abbots Bromley rematch, St Giles' opponents scored 191-9 from 30 overs, beating St Giles, who could only muster 156-9, by 35 runs.

Aaron Coleman, assistant community fundraiser on behalf of St Giles Hospice, said: "As a charity we rely heavily on the generosity of the local community."

"The support of people such as Wayne Murcott and the St Giles Hospice Cricket Team enables us to deliver quality care to local people living with cancer and other serious illnesses."

"We would like to thank all who are involved with the cricket team, and wish them every success with their future matches."

For the next St Giles match in July, they will take on the Meynell Ingram Arms and Lord Rockingham Select XV.

Under age drinkers are targeted in campaign

A HARD-HITTING campaign aimed at reducing under age drinking has been launched in Cannock Chase.

The district council has been working with experts to develop a strategy to tackle the social norms and perceptions of alcohol misuse, targeting young people aged 11-to-16 years old as well as their parents.

The campaign addresses seven typical scenarios that can happen while under the influence.

A promotional pack will be distributed to all local secondary schools including posters, postcard displays and banners with the 'Respect Alcohol' message.

The council has also produced a short news video highlighting the dangers to parents which will be presented from September.

The campaign concepts were created by Fair Oak Academy and Hagley Park Academy students in Rugeley and the models and actors featured are members of Cannock-based Backstreet Theatre Company.

There will be a host of stalls offering traditional activities like Hook a Duck, tombola and a coconut shy, plus stalls selling items including hand-made crafts, jewellery, toys, gifts, bags and bric-a-brac.

There will be face-painting, a bouncy castle and inflatables, refreshments and a nearly-new uniform sale, while visitors will also be treated to displays of football skills, gymnastics, dodgeball and a performance by members of the school choir.

The annual event is organised by the school's Parents Teachers and Friends Association and all proceeds go towards funds for equipment for pupils at the school.

A PTFA spokesman said: "We expect this year's fair to be bigger and better than ever before."

It's hats off for a day at the races

IT was hats off to Ascot as guests cheered on their horses at a respite centre run by Age UK South Staffordshire.

Elderly users of Sir Julian House, in Bridgton, Cannock, spent the week leading up to the Royal meeting designing their own hats and accessories so they could enjoy the races from the comfort of the Walsall Road building.

On Ladies' Day, the guests donned their bespoke outfits to roar their horses on, with prizes awarded for first, second and third places.

The centre's supervisor and staff dressed up to join them and ensured it was a week to remember.

Occupied

At the end of the races, a panel of users enjoyed judging the hat parade.

Co-ordinator Elizabeth Marginson said the event was designed to keep the guests occupied and to teach them new skills. She said: "The event at Cannock for Royal Ascot week was related to providing therapeutic activities for the guests that come on a daily basis, that are also fun, engaging, and provide an opportunity to use skills or learn new ones."

"Craft, design and painting were all involved and it was a chance to socialise with the staff and guests."

She said the event was so popular that it will be repeated each year.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

OUR changing language. We are losing the battle to preserve "against." These days, people protest a decision and appeal a conviction. The next step? A radio reporter eliminated "about" as he told us that someone was "worrying the outcome." Sensible English is vanishing. I worry it. I really do.

HERE'S the sort of thing that makes people angry with big corporations. A couple of days ago our troubled landline packed up yet again. The phone was dead but the broadband was working perfectly. So I went on-line to the BT page which invites us to: "manage your BT line problems. Troubleshoot issues, report and track faults." I entered the phone number into the appropriate box. Back came the message: "Please note that faults on this line cannot be reported via BT.com - please call 0800 800 151." In other words, there's a fault on your phone, so please give us a phone call.

THREE alien species are being targeted for extermination by Defra, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. I can see them bumping off the Indian house crow and the quagga mussel without too many problems. But what reckless, fate-tempting fool will raise his shotgun against the third species, the sacred ibis? The clue is in the name. There is something about shooting an Egyptian sacred ibis that combines those twin follies of killing albatrosses and desecrating a Pharaoh's tomb. How long before those who slaughter the sacred ibis are discovered to be suffering from a nasty bout of ill-fortune, a term which will cover anything from sudden death to an ingrown toenail? I bet the headline writers are already on the case: "Curse of the Sacred Ibis." Don't you just love the silly season?

FAREWELL, the old shoe shop, which has graced our main street for as long as I can remember. It is being replaced by an ice-cream parlour. In this internet age, the products that do best in the high street are the ones that cannot be ordered on line. Shoes can be successfully delivered by courier, ice cream less so.

SO THE future is robotics. If you believe everything you hear, the Government's Technology Strategy Board is going to drive the UK into the forefront of the global robotic market with a dozen new proving grounds for robots, drones and driverless cars. The aim is to release humans from dirty, dangerous or repetitive tasks. So far, so good. But anyone over 60 will recall the glittering promise of something called automation. Back in the 1950s, automation was going to release us humans from drudgery. As one old timer told me lyrically many years ago: "The idea was that we'd only have to work a couple of hours a day and we'd spend the rest of our time writing poetry and making mandolins." It has not happened. Far from setting mankind free, the new technology, based on computers, has shackled millions more people to the grindstone. In 1952 about 23 million British people were employed. Today that figure is approaching 32 million. What are the odds on robotics making life easier, giving us more time to raise the kids, draft the occasional sonnet and make a mandolin? Be very sceptical. The lesson of history is that the more labour-saving devices we invent, the harder we must labour.

Stage set for free youth open day

YOUNGSTERS can 'seize the stage' at a youth open day in Cannock.

The Prince of Wales Centre is throwing open its doors to seven-to-18-year-olds on Saturday, July 26.

Young people will have the chance to discover all aspects of the theatre with activities including stage make-up and prop-making workshops, backstage tours and sound and lighting demonstrations. The day will also play host to a partnership with Birmingham Rep Theatre who will be providing drama workshops.

The free open day takes place from 10am to 3pm, with workshop sessions repeated throughout the day. There is no need to book, but participants will be asked to return to a later session if full.

Richard Kay, manager at the Church Street venue, said: "This event has been planned to find out what opportunities young people would like to get involved with at their local theatre.

"It promises to be a really exciting day with so many activities to have a go at. Once we've consulted with young people we will be looking to set up our very own POW! Youth Panel who will help us to continue to develop youth opportunities at the theatre."

For more information call the box office on 01543 578762 or visit www.wlct.org/cannock/theatre where an iPod can be won by completing a survey.

The event is part of a larger project funded by Arts Connect West Midlands as part of its Partnership Investment Programme.

Health boss: 'No one wants to work here'

A HEALTH chief has claimed 'no one wants to work in Stafford' as it emerged the county is facing a shortage of 85 nurses and midwives.

Andy Donald, head of Stafford and Surrounds Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), told a health scrutiny committee that it was very difficult to get people to work at the hospital.

He was quizzed by councillors amid concerns the group is not doing enough to protect services.

But Mr Donald insisted the recruitment problem would be resolved when the trust that runs the hospital is dissolved.

He said: "The reality is no-one wants to work in Stafford at the moment. It's very difficult to get people to work in the hospital.

Questioned

"The hospital is quite safe at the moment but it is so difficult to recruit. People don't want the hospital on their CV."

Mr Donald was questioned alongside Dr Anne-Marie Houlder, chairman of the CCG's governing body.

He revealed that the majority of the CCG's time in the past 15 months had been spent sorting out issues at Stafford.

The body, made up of GPs, is also responsible for most of the area's health service, including hospital care, emergency treatment, mental health and learning disability service. Mr Donald said: "You don't understand the amount of time that has been taken sorting out the hospital. It has been a torrid time, especially for the people that work there."

"Anne-Marie and myself have spent most of our time dealing with the hospital."

The CCG has £9.6m of debts. Mr Donald said all that money had been spent on patient care.

Stafford and Surrounds CCG is made up of 14 GP practices. Around £220m is being spent on the restructure of the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, including on new facilities in Wolverhampton, Walsall, Cannock, Stafford and Stoke.

Plans are in place to downgrade Stafford Hospital's A&E department and remove paediatric services as well as critical and urgent care. Some services will be transferred to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire in Stoke.

Workshops on pet care

CHILDREN can learn more about their pets during a series of summer holiday workshops. The My Pet Pals Summer Activity Club is being staged by Pets At Home at stores in Cannock and Colton.

The free interactive pet workshops will educate young pet owners on how to care for animals, including guinea pigs, hamsters, fish and reptiles, responsibly.

After completing the workshops, each child will receive a certificate and stickers, along with a pet promise card where they make a pledge to look after any pet they have. Contact the stores for more details about the workshops.

Taking a spin on Ironman bid

Andrew Noble, of Heath Hayes, is taking part in the Wales Ironman event

A GRANDFATHER-of-two is gearing up to take on an Ironman triathlon challenge in aid of a special needs charity.

Andrew Noble, of Deavall Way, Heath Hayes, hopes to complete the 140.6 mile Ironman Wales challenge in Tenby on September 14.

The 46-year-old will have to complete a 2.4 mile swim, a 112-mile bike ride and 26.2 mile run within the space of 17 hours.

The sales director is raising money for Tamworth-based charity SPIN (Special People in Need), which runs a centre giving support to people with special needs. The son of one of his friends has autism and has been helped by the centre.

Mr Noble hopes to raise more than £3,000. He said: "I've just completed the UK 70.3 challenge in Somerset. That's the fifth time I've done that. I've also done the one in France."

Mr Noble says he can spend more than a day a week in training. To sponsor him, visit www.sportforspin.co.uk

Experts to support victims of crime

NEW specialists aim to ensure vulnerable victims of crime in the Cannock, Rugeley and Burntwood areas get the best possible support as part of a rethink of services by Staffordshire's Police & Crime Commissioner.

Matthew Ellis set out a vision 12 months ago to put the needs of victims and witnesses at the heart of the criminal justice system.

Now, a network of new specialists who offer support to vulnerable victims because of such issues as mental illness, domestic violence or hearing impairment, will be established.

The new service has been recognised by the Government, which last week provided a £220,000 grant in support.

Mr Ellis said: "For too long people have had to fit the criminal justice system rather than the system fitting them.

"In Staffordshire, we want to reverse this and create a joined-up system that treats victims with dignity and respect.

"It's about making it easier for victims to receive the support they need and putting them at the heart of all we do."

The 12 specialists will sit in organisations that already have expertise in supporting vulnerable people.

Heart charity cash raised

MORE than £400 has been raised for charity by friends and family of a former painter and decorator.

Donations to the British Heart Foundation were made at Stafford Crematorium during the funeral of Barry Challinor, from Chads Moor.

Mr Challinor, who worked for Cannock Chase Council before he retired, died of cancer. He had been helped by the heart charity when he had a triple bypass 10 years ago.

A total of £417 was donated for the cause.

All Building Work Undertaken

Incentive scheme has MP's backing

CANNOCK Chase MP Aidan Burley wants his constituents to make their homes more energy efficient using a Government grant.

Householders carrying out energy efficiency improvements can get more money back to offset the cost of the work being done.

The new Green Deal Home Improvement Fund (GDHIF) has already issued £16.5 million in the first three weeks.

Under the scheme, domestic energy customers can get up to £1,000 for installing two measures from an approved list and up to £6,000 for installing solid wall insulation.

The scheme also entitles those who have bought a property in the 12 months before they made the application to qualify for up to an additional £500 if they carry out energy efficiency improvements.

Mr Burley said: "I am very pleased that people are able to get up to £7,600 back through the new Green Deal Home Improvement Fund."

"The average annual bill saving from installing major measures such as solid wall insulation in a three-bed semi-detached house is £270, while savings from other measures, such as upgrading a boiler, can knock around £100 off a customer's bill in Cannock Chase."

Judges make visit to town

JUDGES will visit Burntwood next week for the Heart of England in Bloom contest.

Burntwood is entered in the large towns category for the third successive year and the panel, including the HEIB chairman Roger Brache, will visit the town next Tuesday morning (July 15).

Town councillors hope to match, or even better, last year's Silver gilt award.

Results will be announced at a formal presentation in September.

Ceremony celebrates youngsters' success

The 10 achievers from Chase View Primary, Rugeley

PUPILS in Rugeley can count on success after winning prizes for their maths achievements.

Ten youngsters from Chase View Primary celebrated their school's success at an awards evening, joining children from other schools for the ceremony at Hagley Park Academy.

The awards celebrated the pupils' achievements in going above and beyond to excel in specific areas including the subjects of maths, English, science, sport, art and music. There was also recognition for the children who were considered exceptional role models, had contributed to the school and community in special ways and for the most improved students.

The evening was compered by the principal of Rugeley Academies, David Powell and the awards were presented by senior staff members with direct connections to the awards being given. Prior to each presentation they spoke of the significance and importance of each one. They were also assisted by Academy pupils who were high achievers in the specific areas.

Chase View teacher Paul Moberley said: "It was a pleasure to see the pride on the faces of the Chase View pupils when receiving their awards."

The Chase View youngsters were Jessica Green, Morgan John, Kyra-Leigh Boden, Joshua Guy, Jack Lynch, Liam Mullin, Reiss Walters, Jake Cartwright, Ryley Archer and Jake Larnar.

Summer fun in open day at nursery

PARENTS of youngsters attending a Cannock nursery will be helping others to make a decision about their child's care this weekend.

Happy Tots nursery in Orbital Plaza, Bridgtown is holding a 'summer fun' themed open day on Saturday from 10.30am to 1.30pm. Some existing parents will be available for prospective parents to find out more about the nursery.

Nursery manager Kelly Boden said: "Choosing a nursery is a really big decision, so we find it useful for prospective parents to talk to people who already have children at Happy Tots, so they can find out everything they need to know in order to make the best decision."

Children are encouraged to have fun while their parents find out more. There will be a host of fun summer-themed activities such as playing with sand and water, biscuit decorating, hook-a-duck and painting summer pictures.

guilty to allowing the five-year-old dog to be dangerously out of control in a public place causing injury when he appeared at Cannock Magistrates Court.

His pet was made the subject of a dog control order.

Mr John Peel, prosecuting, said: "Lindsay Brotherton was out with her whippet saluki cross and her husband and daughter.

"She saw a male with his dog and extended the lead on her dog to put it on the closest setting.

"Both dogs began barking at each other and the Staffie surged forward and bit into her right knee."

Swelling

Mrs Brotherton had visible teeth marks on her knee and bruising and swelling down her leg after the attack on May 26. She went to Cannock Hospital for treatment and wore a bandage for 48 hours.

In mitigation, Morris admitted his dog could get uncomfortable when around other dogs but on this occasion Tyson was well behaved. He claimed Mrs Brotherton's dog was pulling on its owner's lead.

Mr Chris Clarke, defending, said: "The other dog was aggressive to his dog and the lady was in the middle and was bitten."

Morris was fined £558 and ordered to pay £150 in compensation.

Baton relay marks WI centenary

Captain Patrick Wood, Hayes Green WI president Sandy Hobbs and Cannock president Helen Hallchurch

A CENTENARY baton has been presented to some of Staffordshire's 4,500 Women's Institute members at a ceremony commemorating 100 years of the movement.

To mark the anniversary, the WI is passing the baton around its 69 federations across England, Wales and the islands.

It started its 18-month journey in January at the Royal Albert Hall and will return there for the 100th birthday celebrations next June. It arrived at Cannock Chase Visitor Centre in Marquis Drive, where it was greeted by members of the Heathside group of the WI - Cannock, Hayes Green, Norton Canes and Shreshill.

The centenary baton has been specially designed, containing a memory chip allowing federations to upload information about their history to provide a unique record of the movement since the founding of the first WI at Llanfairpwll in Wales 100 years ago.

Staffordshire received the baton from the Derbyshire Federation at the National Memorial Arboretum at Alrewas and have now handed it over to Shropshire.

It has travelled around all 27 groups in Staffordshire, including Gentleshaw, Rugeley, Etching Hill, Armitage and Longdon.

Gentleshaw president Gaynor Dixon said: "It was wonderful to receive the baton and we had a lovely day. I think it is extremely important that we mark 100 years."

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

RETURNING from a brief spell in Europe, one thing always strikes me is how much better the town centres over there seem to be doing compared to those in this country.

One reason is unquestionably down to the fact that while in this country, local councils seem bent on making people walk as far as possible from their cars to the shops – take for example the ridiculous block paving outside the Express & Star offices in Queen Street, which seems to have at a stroke slashed the number of on-street parking spaces.

But the other thing is that all the shops open in the evening. It has always struck me as quite absurd how nearly all the shops in our town centres open just as everybody arrives at work, and then shut just at the same time as people return. Wouldn't it be a really clever idea for shops to maybe start trading a couple of hours later, say at 11am, and stay open to maybe 9 pm?

JUST when you thought there was nothing left that Benefits Street star Deirdre 'White Dee' Kelly could do that would surprise you, she has finally decided to tell the world she has been off benefits for the past three months. Wonders will never cease. She has also fired a broadside at fellow celebrity chay Josie Cunningham.

White Dee says Cunningham, the 23-year-old would-be 'glamour model' who bragged about how she got her £4,800 breast enhancement on the NHS to help with her career, is 'rubbing the taxpayers' nose in it' with her incessant gloating about how much she is taking off the State.

It really comes to something when White Dee thinks you are lowering the tone. Meanwhile, it seems Josie has been offered a book deal, where she will no doubt wax lyrical about how her NHS surgery enabled her to embark on a spell as a £1,000-a-night 'escort' before becoming pregnant by a client.

The book will be in Josie's own words and completely unedited. No doubt in a few years' time, it will be appearing on the National Curriculum. In the mean time I'm sure we can all have a lot of fun colouring it in.

ANOTHER testament to the British education system comes in the shape of 19-year-old Zach Jackson, who found even the task of street robbery too much for his tiny brain to take in.

Because he found the work so gruelling, he compiled a helpful little checklist offering himself a bit of advice on how to complete the work successfully.

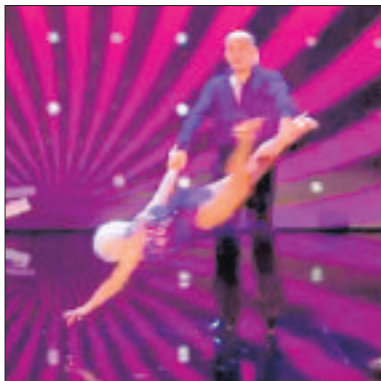

"Wear black clothes, gloves, warm up before doing it, watch out for CCTV, grab," were his pearls of wisdom for how to make it as an effective mugger. One tip, Zach. You're much less likely to get caught if you don't write down the instructions.

Paddy with her late husband David in Spain

Paddy receives flowers from Wolverley head Bryn Thomas

The great granny in action with dance partner Nico Espinosa

'I'll keep dancing as long as I can'

The octogenarian salsa dancer from Stourbridge isn't ready to quit, she tells CHARLOTTLE LILLEY

SHE is the hip-shaking, nimble-footed great-grandmother who stunned the nation as she was thrown around the dance-floor by her younger partner.

Jaws dropped as Paddy Jones twirled around the Britain's Got Talent stage earning herself a standing ovation from all four judges.

As she celebrates her 80th birthday, she has revealed she has no plans to hang up her dancing shoes yet, vowing to carry on as long as she can.

Golden

Paddy, from Stourbridge, won the hearts of the nation when she was put straight through to the final of the ITV1 show after judge Amanda Holden pressed her golden buzzer.

She says: "Since appearing on the show my life has been incredible and now I want to encourage people to go for their dreams and not give up.

"My mother was a singer and she wanted to be professional but my grandpa said no and told her she had to stay in Stourbridge. I think she lived her life through me. I started dancing at the age of two and later started drama and elocution lessons because, living in the Black Country, elocution is important. I was 12 when I did my first professional show at Dudley Hippodrome and 15 when I left school to go into theatre."

Paddy performed in Dudley, Wolverhampton, Birmingham and Blackpool before meeting her late husband, David, at the age of 16. She decided to give up dancing aged 22 to start a family and ran a shop called Paddy's Fabrics in Victoria Passage, Stourbridge.

'I have no intention of giving up just yet,' says 80-year-old Paddy Jones

In 2001 the couple decided to move to Spain but sadly their move was delayed when David was diagnosed with leukaemia. After nine months of treatment at Russells Hall Hospital, he was well enough to go and they enjoyed a few happy months there before the disease returned. He died in March 2003.

Paddy took up Latin-American dance lessons to keep herself busy and rediscovered her love of dance. Her teacher Nico Espinosa, 40 years her junior, recognised her potential and together they started working on routines.

Since then she has been swung, flung, thrown and twirled around stages all over the world and together the couple won the Spanish version of Britain's Got Talent. They finished ninth in the UK version of the competition after Paddy soldiered on despite breaking her ribs just before the final round.

"I never expected the kind of reception I got after appearing on Britain's Got Talent," says Paddy. "It was incredible when Amanda pressed the golden buzzer because we were the first contestants on the show to get one and we didn't know what to think. Nico was besides himself and burst into tears. It was an incredible feeling.

"Amanda has been an absolutely wonderful person and a fantastic mentor. She is so down to earth and is incredibly supportive because she sent flowers to Spain when I cracked my ribs."

Since she started dancing again, Paddy, whose real name is Sarah Patricia Jones, has travelled to North and South America, Europe and Israel.

Peru

She competed in Showmatch, the Argentinian version of Strictly Come Dancing but failed to reach the final. The pair have also performed at the World Salsa Congress in Peru.

In 2010 she was entered into the Guinness World Record books for being the oldest salsa acrobatic dancer.

"I received a medal after appearing in the book which I treasure very much because it is a fantastic achievement," says Paddy. "It has been a very exciting few years and I have really enjoyed myself and since the show ended I have had a lot of job offers.

"Nico and I have been invited to appear on India's Got Talent as guest performers which is exciting. I have also been asked to perform on a cruise ship for three months but that is just too long because I have a home, a garden, a dog and a cat in Spain and I can't abandon them.

"I will carry on dancing for as long as I am able to. I have no intention of giving up just yet."

Last week Paddy marked her 80th birthday by giving a talk about her experiences to students at Wolverley CE Secondary School near Kidderminster.

The mother-of-four and grandmother-of-seven comes back to the West Midlands every four months from her home in Spain to visit friends and family. She says: "I miss Stourbridge, I love coming back and seeing everyone I know. I'm a Stourbridge girl at heart."

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

THE sudden death of West Midlands police and crime commissioner Bob Jones has left a void that many think cannot be filled – even though the law says they must do so in just over a month.

Were the loss of a public servant respected even by his political opponents not enough, the police have now been left dealing with one of the more absurd parts of the statute that created the post in the first place.

The Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act that gave rise to the 2012 elections of PCCs requires a by-election be held 'not more than 35 days after the relevant event'.

Councillor Darren Cooper, who chairs the West Midlands Police and Crime Panel, found himself in the unenviable position of having to discuss how to replace Mr Jones within four hours of being told of his passing.

There then followed a debate between Government departments over whether '35 days' meant 'calendar or business days' and whether the 'relevant event' (such a cold and clinical term) meant Mr Jones' passing or some formal notification.

If we leave aside the gross insensitivity of a law that requires a vacancy to be filled so quickly, it is also a bureaucratic nightmare.

The PCC for the West Midlands covers not fewer than seven council areas. Three of them are cities and one of those is Birmingham, the second biggest in the country.

Then there will be the work for the political parties and candidates, who must select people to stand for them and get all the paperwork through.

There will need to be the time to come up with campaign literature.

Meanwhile the work of the PCC must continue. An interim appointment will be made later this month.

But what happens if the temporary post holder, likely to be deputy PCC Yvonne Mosquito, wants to throw her hat into the ring?

Will she be allowed to campaign while technically the incumbent?

All the while, we continue to mourn the loss of Bob Jones CBE, who never believed the role of a PCC should exist in the first place.

In a letter to the Express & Star in 2012, thanking voters and pledging to serve everyone, regardless of how or even if they voted, Mr Jones wrote: "I believe police and crime commissioners are an expensive and unnecessary change, poorly implemented and appallingly publicised."

Were he with us today he would be within his rights to say the chaos following his death had proved him correct.

But he'd be too busy quietly getting on with the job for that.

AN artist's impression has been unveiled of a new designer retail outlet planned for Cannock. The development, off Lichfield Road next to Mill Green Nature Reserve. It would create around 800 jobs.

Detailed plans for the Mill Green Designer Outlet Village scheme – set to feature 130 shops including the likes of Superdry, Paul Smith and Ralph Lauren – go on display to the public for the first time this weekend.

A two-day public exhibition takes place at South Staffordshire College's Cannock Campus in The Green, from 2-7pm tomorrow (Friday) and on Saturday between 10am and 2pm. Comments can be made at www.millgreenoutlet-village.co.uk

Ex-lover in hate campaign

A MAN has admitted posting naked images of his ex-girlfriend on Facebook during a five-month hate campaign.

Peter Atkinson's jealousy also led him to track down a man who he thought was seeing his ex-partner and trying to run him over.

The 20-year-old, from Curlew Hill in Cannock, sent abusive texts and made life a misery for his ex at her home in Newton Abbot, Devon. A judge described his action as one of the worst cases of harassment he had seen.

Atkinson admitted harassing his ex between January 10 and June 10 this year. He also admitted harassing Ben Michael on June 15 by sending him six abusive messages.

Atkinson pleaded guilty to dangerous driving, after he drove at Mr Michael, and to driving a Vauxhall Astra with false plates, no licence, no insurance and to handling a stolen car. Atkinson denied assaulting his ex-girlfriend and Ben Michael.

Judge Gilbert said: "It seems to me the offences of harassment are among the worst I have ever seen.."

Mr William Rose, defending, asked for the case to be adjourned for pre-sentence reports to be compiled.

Atkinson was remanded in custody by Judge Francis Gilbert, QC, at Exeter Crown Court.

8 Get your facts right

The Chronicle
Thursday, July 10, 2014

WHILE I wholeheartedly congratulate the Mercian Regiment/Staffords on being awarded The Freedom of Cannock Chase, District Council leader George Adamson says 'it is a special honour as they were the first to be given it.'

Mr Adamson, you are 100 per cent wrong. That honour was bestowed upon the 213 P'd Coy, Corps of the Royal Engineers in 1951. It was re-enacted in 2001 on the 50th anniversary. Or have you forgotten? Please get your facts right.

Sum raised

I WOULD like to say thank you to the staff for their co-operation and all the people who so kindly donated to a fundraising collection for the Burntwood, Cannock and Lichfield branch of the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association at Morrisons, Burntwood on July 4 and 5. It raised £996.55.

Longing for return of Wolves golden days

I AM over 80 and, like M Finn, remember cycling the 10 miles from Bridgtown to see Wolves on a regular basis in the late 1940s and 1950s when we were a team worth supporting.

We parked our bikes in the back yard of a nearby house for 3d without any fear of them being stolen or damaged by vandals. It was 1/6d to see the match and a programme was a flimsy orange sheet giving the team and a few comments. After the match we would race back to Bridgtown and try to beat the bus, packed with supporters, and get first in the queue for the "Sporting Pink" at Cliff's the newsagents. The "Blue Argus" also arrived at about the same time containing all the results and league tables. We got all this fun for 2/6d (half a crown, 12.5p in new money.)

How times, and football, has changed. It would cost £50 to do it at the current prices. I now listen to the commentary on the radio, when I can find the right channel, and hope Wolves can continue to climb back to where they were in my younger days.

I queued all night for a ticket to the 1949 Cup Final but never got one. However, I did get to Wembley in 1960 and I was able to take my younger sister for the treat in an Austin Healy sports car with the hood down waving to all the supporters in cars and coaches as we drove down the motorway. We won 3-0, Happy days! Will they ever return? Not in my lifetime I fear.

Volunteers are sought for charity

CATS Protection's Cannock Area branch needs to recruit a number of key volunteers to enable the charity to help even more cats.

The branch, run entirely by volunteers, needs people who can spare a few hours a month for the roles of volunteer homing team leader; home visitors; fundraising events organiser; fundraising event volunteers; publicity team leader; website editor; trap, neuter and return volunteers.

Cats Protection is the UK's leading cat charity and the Cannock Area Branch is part of a nationwide network of 257 volunteer-run branches and 30 adoption centres that together help over 218,000 cats each year.

As well as finding new homes, the charity offers cat care advice and can help towards the cost of neutering.

To become a volunteer, call 080800 191919 or email bsusnwe@cats.org.uk

Government needs to put its own first

OUR government and opposition parties have all promised a referendum on membership of the EU only in the event of further treaty changes but with the level of control of laws within the union the need for treaty change will never happen.

With the new EU and US trade deals Cameron's giveaway of lucrative sections of our NHS will cost us all billions of pounds to recover.

Together with Cameron's promises and Miliband's pledges, nearly a million of our pensioners are living in poverty and many more are in need of food banks. While we continue to plough billions into countries far richer than our own we can be certain nothing will change until we get a government into power that puts our people first.

Endorsing the need to keep hospital unit open

I WISH to write in praise of the minor injury unit at Cannock hospital and endorse the need to keep it open.

I visited recently with my elderly mother who has some dementia issues and had suffered an injury following a fall.

The receptionist was very welcoming, the waiting time reasonable and the nurse who treated my mother could not have been kinder or more understanding of the problems caused by her dementia.

This contrasts sharply with recent visits to Stoke hospital where the prevailing culture appears to be unfriendly, uncaring and unhelpful. Please let us make every effort to retain our local hospital services.

Classic car show brings in cancer charity cash

A CLASSIC car and motor-bike fun day raised more than £3,000 in memory of Stephen Sutton.

More than 700 people attended the event at Stephen's old school, Chase Terrace Technology College.

There was a range of classic cars and motorcycles on display, as well as a series of auction items.

The day was organised by Year 11 pupil Connah Anslow and teaching assistant Kim Tonks.

In total £3,004 was raised and a further £400 on a holiday to Mallorca raised through a silent auction.

Miss Tonks said: "The day was very relaxed and everyone from stallholders to the public came and congratulated us on a lovely day."

Inspired

"It went really well, we took £1,400 just on the gate so there were over 700 people who attended."

The money was raised for the Teenage Cancer Trust via Stephen's Justgiving fundraising page. The 19-year-old inspired the nation and helped to raise more than £4 million for the charity.

The teenager drew up a bucket list of things he wanted to achieve before he died.

This led to him completing a sky-dive and playing drums in front of 90,000 people before the Champions League final at Wembley last May, among other achievements.

Thousands of people attended a two-day vigil at Lichfield Cathedral before his funeral. Stephen was also made an MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours last month.

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Bogus claims are criticised

POLICE & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis wants insurance companies to do more to combat fraudulent whiplash claims.

Mr Ellis has welcomed a new report from the Commons Transport Select Committee which says that insurance companies must insist on medical examinations for all whiplash claimants.

He said: "This behaviour by a growing minority costs honest people who pay their insurance premiums more money."

"Some in the insurance industry have been taking the easy way out for too long, by not challenging potentially fraudulent claims."

"This lack of effort by insurance companies is encouraging an industry of fraudulent claims which ruins lives and costs the rest of us more."

Private companies to manage cancer services in £1.2bn deal

CANCER and end-of-life care in Staffordshire is set to be managed by private companies in deals worth £1.2 billion.

Health chiefs across the county have teamed up with experts from Macmillan Cancer Support to overhaul the way services are managed with 10-year contracts worth £689 million and £535 million up for grabs.

Virgin, Care UK, Ramsay Health and other private firms are said to be interested in bidding for the contracts in a move which has been dubbed as 'privatisation by the back door' by

Report by Rob Gollidge

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson. He said: "Cancer services are too important to be sold off to companies interested in making a profit. This is about people's lives."

But Andrew Donald, chief officer at Cannock Chase and Stafford and Surrounds Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCG), said the provider of services would not change and that it would put 'patients first'.

He said: "The intention at this stage is for the CCG's involved and NHS England to appoint organisations with expertise in managing contracts, not to change the organisations who directly deliver cancer care services."

"The most important thing is that patients and carers affected by cancer will be around the table when these decisions are made, and throughout the contract monitoring process."

While an NHS organisation could bid for the contracts, the four CCGs from across the county said they were open to the successful bidder being private firms.

A Department of Health spokesman said: "The key thing is that patients get the best possible care, free at the point of use, no matter who provides it."

Unveiling date for memorial

A BRONZE tribute to the women who worked Britain's farms and forests during the first and second world wars will be unveiled on October 21.

The memorial, featuring figures of a Land Girl and a Lumber Jill taken from a wartime promotional poster, will honour the vital work of nearly 250,000 women who served in the Women's Land Army and the Women's Timber Corps. Created by artist Denise Dutton, it will be sited at the National Memorial Arboretum at Alrewas.

Staffordshire's Women's Food and Farming Union has led the fundraising campaign for the £100,000 sculpture.

The WFU is still looking for former members who would like to attend the unveiling ceremony. To register an interest, go to www.womenslandarmytribute.co.uk and find a link to an application from under the Memorial tab.

Alert to owners after dog is bitten by snake

A GREYHOUND had to be rushed to the vets after it was bitten by an adder on Cannock Chase.

Lynn Pallatina was taking Cookie, an eight-year-old retired racer, out for a walk when it was bitten on the nose by the snake hiding in undergrowth.

Miss Pallatina said her beloved pet was recovering at the PDSA animal hospital in Quinton, Birmingham.

Mother-of-one Miss Pallatina, from Hednesford, said: "She wandered over to some undergrowth. She was sniffing around and then jumped back suddenly."

"I went over to see what happened and saw for a brief second the back of a snake."

Miss Pallatina, aged 29, thought nothing more of it until Cookie started opening and closing her mouth and lay down on the ground.

She said: "She looked very depressed as well so I took her to the vets."

Clicked

"The vets in Wolverhampton asked if Cookie had been bitten by anything and it only clicked then than that it may have been the adder."

Cookie was given anti-venom and put on a drip. "I just want other dog owners to be aware of the dangers of adders on the Chase," she added.

Kay Brough, head nurse at Wolverhampton PDSA, said: "Cookie was bitten on her face by an adder and without treatment it's quite possible she would have died, as adder venom is poisonous."

"She was immediately given pain relief and thankfully we were able to get hold of the anti-venom to treat her. "She is making good progress. However, we will need to monitor her closely, as well as doing regular tests

Greyhound Cookie who was bitten by a snake on Cannock Chase to check her kidney function hasn't been affected.

"Adders are most commonly found on dry heaths and moors during hot sunny weather."

"Bites to dogs are thankfully quite rare but when seen they are usually on the face and limbs, most likely as a result of the snake attacking in self defence after being disturbed by an inquisitive dog. The venom causes severe, rapid swelling and two small puncture wounds may be visible at the centre. The dog will also show signs of acute pain and may appear nervous or apprehensive."

"If not treated it can cause them to collapse and can even be fatal"

Jailed for stealing £22,000 from wife

A GAMBLING addict who cheated his new bride out of more than £22,000 has been jailed for eight months.

Timothy Jones from Burntwood plundered the bank account of his primary school teacher wife Jo and used two credit cards in her name without her knowledge.

Mrs Jones became suspicious when she gave him a hug and felt a large roll of banknotes in his pocket, Stafford crown court heard.

When she tried to check her bank account, she found her online passwords were rejected.

Jones, aged 48, of Sister Dora Avenue was jailed after admitting three charges of making false representations.

Recorder Professor Martin Wasik told him: "It is the breach of trust which makes this so serious."

Dormant

"This whole fraud was perpetrated against your wife, using her ID as a means of accessing her account as a way to finance your gambling addiction."

Mr Neil Ahuja, prosecuting, said the total taken from Mrs Jones was £22,251. It included £7,692 from her bank account, £6,543 on one credit card and more than £8,000 on another. The cards had been dormant but the defendant reactivated them.

The couple met at a theatrical group in February 2009 and married last summer.

Mrs Jones was the breadwinner for the family while her husband studied at college and looked after the household, the court was told. Matters came to light last December when Mrs

Timothy Jones - jailed

Jones hugged him and noticed the roll of banknotes. When, while Christmas shopping, she manually checked her account and found just £91 in it.

When questioned Jones told officers he had a problem with gaming machines and betting shops which was out of control. It had started eight or nine years ago and he had debts already when he met his wife-to-be.

Mr Paul Lamb, defending, said: "He has shown a great deal of regret and remorse for the distress and difficulties he has inflicted on his now estranged wife and stepchildren."

Jones had obtained a degree and a teaching qualification and had been employed as a supply teacher, but that career was now closed to him as a result of this conviction.

Golf pro pleads guilty to having indecent images

A GOLF pro has admitted to possessing more than 2,000 indecent images of children and extreme pornography.

Guy Dean aged 44, of Pelsall Lane, Bloxwich, appeared at Stafford Crown Court on Monday.

He admitted seven charges of making indecent images of a child and two of possessing extreme pornographic images between June 2011 and April last year. He also pleaded guilty to possessing three images of extreme pornography and five images pornographic images involving animals.

Miss Catherine O'Reilly, defending, said a psychiatric report was being prepared. Judge Mark Eades adjourned the case for reports and Dean was granted conditional bail. He will be sentenced at a later date.

Dean started his professional career at Beaudesert Golf Club in Rugeley Road, Cannock, in 1986. In 1996 he joined ranks with European Seniors Tour player Jim Rhodes at South Staffordshire Golf Club.

He was also head professional at Dartmouth Golf Club, West Bromwich and held the same position at Dudley Golf Club, Rowley Regis, in 2000. From 2005 until 2013, Dean was head professional at Penn Golf Club in Wolverhampton.

Pair put through paces in challenge

Sam Brindley, left, and Nick Priest, who have embarked on a challenge of 15 events for the Children with Cancer UK

TWO Cannock friends are pushing themselves to the limit for 15 gruelling fundraisers in 10 weeks. Nick Priest and Sam Brindley have swum, run a marathon, sweated it out in the gym and even raced a horse for 26 miles.

The 23-year-olds from Cannock Chase wanted to 'do some good for someone' and devised a list of 15 sponsored activities to complete, some more testing than others.

The friends, who went to school together at Cardinal Griffin, hope to raise £1,500 for Children with Cancer. Nick, of Heath Hayes, said: "It was devised after a few beers but we still thought it was a good idea the next day."

Challenges have included the annual Man versus Horse event in the Brecon Beacons and the Midnight Marathon. To donate, visit www.justgiving/priestandsam, or text NPSB86 followed by the amount to 70070.m

Football club faces charge of race abuse

AN amateur football team has been charged by the FA over racial abuse – at a cup final attended by England legend John Barnes.

The ex-Liverpool star came to Stafford Town's ground to congratulate Cheslyn Hay-based Hawkins Sports FC for winning a competition to play at Anfield.

However, it is alleged supporters of the opposition team Littleton Arms hurled racist abuse at some of the Hawkins players at the Cannock Chase League Premier Cup final in May.

The FA has charged the club under rule E20 for 'failing to ensure that players, officials or spectators conducted themselves in an orderly fashion, aggravated by racist and/or discriminatory language and/or behaviour'.

Defence

Littleton have requested a personal hearing, which takes place next Monday, July 14. Staffordshire FA football operations manager Adam Evans said: "The case has not been proven and Littleton will be able to put forward a defence."

by Adam Burling

Hawkins, who won 3-2, have since been charged with fielding ineligible players. An appeal was launched but Staffordshire FA upheld the decision.

Now Hawkins boss Adam Pearce plans to appeal to the national FA.

He added: "We are confident we have got the documents to prove we have done nothing wrong."

Paul Andrews, Littleton FC manager said "All our players want to do is play football so it is a shame it has come to this."

"However, I understand that the FA must investigate the matter and assess the situation."

Firms evacuated as blaze hits paint yard

Firefighters at the scene of the blaze at the paint factory yard in Great Wyrley

UP to 12 businesses were evacuated and residents warned to keep their windows shut following a blaze at a paint factory yard.

Smoke from the fire in Great Wyrley could be seen for miles around as five cargo containers went up in flames.

Around 40 firefighters were called to Cheslyn Dispersions in Landywood Lane just after noon on Monday where the containers, filled with flammable paint powder and thinners, were alight. The flames also spread to a lorry trailer and forklift truck. The blaze started accidentally when dry paint powder being stored in a 40ft shipping container overheated and caused a chemical reaction.

Crews visited nearby Moat Hall Primary and neighbouring houses urging people to stay indoors and keep windows closed in case of contamination from burning chemicals.

Seven staff were working at the site at the time, including Chris Blundell who owns the business with husband Derek. She said: "I was in the office and one of the lads ran over shouting there was a fire. We're thankful no one was injured." Police closed a 300 yard stretch from the railway station as far as Landywood Green for several hours as fire crews worked at the scene.

Watch commander David Williams said: "We evacuated all the factory buildings on the estate as a precaution. "The incident caused a large amount of smoke which probably reached 50ft. We managed to prevent it from spreading although there was some slight damage to the building itself."

Some canisters, believed to contain argon, which is used in the paint-making process, were affected by the heat but did not explode.

An insight into life of an hotelier

CT LADIES CLUB

ALAN Thornton spoke at the June meeting about 'A Day in the Life of a Seaside Hotelier'.

Alan was born in Red-ditch and brought up in the 1940s. His family had moved there from Brierley Hill. The family used to take trips to the seaside that took hours of travelling just to get to Weston. He fell in love with the idea of being a seaside hotelier and he and his wife went to Weymouth to make a tour of the residences for sale before making a choice.

They found a guest house on a crossroads and purchased it with fixtures and fittings. It was a little run down and needed repairs, but all were done in time for the first guests arriving.

Many local workers helped out in the hotels during the summer season and moved north in the winter for alternative employment. One told Alan of a scam involving chickens. It seems he worked in a local chicken takeaway and was amazed at the way they managed to cut a chicken in to six to get the most possible money out of it.

He took this 'skill' to the next hotel he worked in where he used to cut the chickens in to six, put four out for the guests, two for himself in to a basket outside the window on completing his shift he was able to collect the pieces of chicken as he had tied a rope on to the basket and pulled it up the cliff without anybody seeing him.

A very enjoyable evening was had by all.

Guest leads members down garden path with his talk

"UP the Garden Path" was the title of David Bell's talk when he joined SI Cannock & District as their speaker. It wasn't a talk about flowers and shrubs - but very amusing anecdotes gathered about "the privy".

David is an author and has been writing for 25 years; prior to that he was a primary school teacher and headteacher, living and working where the three counties of Staffordshire, Derbyshire and Leicestershire meet.

His first books were written for 10-year-olds. He then wrote rather gory crime fiction under the name of Jack Wainer. He later realised there was a need for books about life in the three counties he was so familiar with. And so began his series of books: 'Ghosts and Legends', 'Memories of life in the Coalfields', and books about growing up in the 40s and 50s.

The stories he was told led him to research more stories about the privy - which was usually down the garden path.

David recounted some of these amusing tales and the stories had members remembering their own childhood experiences and laughing at some of the inevitable consequences of the privy in the garden.

More information about David, his books and his talks can be found on www.free-webs.com/davebell.

Hottest curry now has that extra bite

Tony Uddin, owner of the Dilshad restaurant in Cannock Road, Chads Moor, points out some of the chillies included in the dish as he launches the world's hottest curry, the Crocodile Inferno

A CANNOCK restaurant has launched a hot curry with even extra bite. The Dilshad in Cannock Road, Chads Moor, already serves the UK's hottest curry, the Inferno. Now it has launched the Crocodile Inferno, made from crocodile meat and rated twice as hot as police pepper spray. The dish is so spicy that chefs have to wear gas masks while they prepare it due to the overpowering chilli fumes. Owner Tony Uddin said: "I believe this could be the hottest curry in the world. The crocodile will literally be biting back as you eat it. You will literally feel like you have wrestled a crocodile by the end of it. I am not sure anyone can finish it." Customers will be asked to sign a disclaimer to try the dish, which contains a blend of some of the world's hottest chillies. Those who finish it will be rewarded with a T-shirt.

Kart club submits plans for race track

GO-KARTING fans could soon be tearing round a track in a South Staffordshire village in front of hundreds of spectators. Plans to build a racing circuit in Shreshill have been unveiled by Chasewater Kart Racing Club. Bosses want to create an outdoor racing circuit, race control building, storage facility and a 400-space car park. The track is proposed on green belt land off Warstone Road. It is poised to open seven days week - with special race weekends also planned. It will be 1,312 ft long by 32 ft wide and would occupy a total of 28 acres. Plans to South Staffordshire Council from the agent CT Planning state: "The club would like to have the ability to use the site seven days a week. Mitigate "It is proposed that no karting activities would start on site before 10am or continue after 7.30pm. "The proposed scheme will seek to mitigate any noise impact through detailed circuit design, restrictions on the hours of operation and landscaping. "It is submitted that the proposed development relates to a form of development that is appropriate to a rural area and appropriate to the green belt." The council is due to make by Laura Blyth a decision on the scheme by September 22. Chasewater Kart Racing Club wants to host special race weekends at the site, which they say is one of the busiest events in the club's calendar, on a Saturday and Sunday for up to 22 weekends per year. Around 175 competitors would take part. The club ran a racing circuit at Chasewater Country Park for more than 40 years but ceased racing there in May 2001 after part of the circuit was compulsorily purchased as part of the M6 Toll. The club has since then been looking for a new home. It is managed as a not-for-profit organisation and its key objective is to promote go-karting in the area. Shreshill residents are being consulted.

Molineux Hotel and grounds as it appeared in 1866

Molineux Hotel when the Ring Road was being built

Molineux Hotel pictured back in the 1940s

An aerial view of Molineux in the 1950s

Molineux borne out of 'Rotton' beginnings

IN 1720 a man named John Rotton decided to build himself a house. We do not know who Mr Rotton was, but he may well have been a prominent bucklemaker, which was an important trade in Wolverhampton.

If the contractor he chose gathered his men by the Town Hall at the top of High Green (now Queen Square), which seems a likely spot they would have walked down High Green and turned right at the bottom into Tup Street (now North Street).

They would have passed the Red Lion and three Prebend houses, and Giffard House to a piece of land of about eight acres at the top of Wadhams Hill.

Mr Rotton had them line up his new house facing St Peter's Church, but at the rear there was a fine view over open countryside, stretching to Tettenhall ridge, with Chillington Hall visible 10 miles away.

John Rotton only lived in his new house for about 20 years, because he died in 1743 and because he died owing a local ironmaster named John Molineux £700, his widow came to an agreement handing over the house in payment.

John Molineux was so impressed with the house that he decided to make it the family's main residence, and it was greatly extended, with formal gardens stretching down the hill.

As time went on Wolverhampton expanded, Waterloo Road was cut across the hill and new housing built, and as the 19th Century progressed, a whole new suburb, Newhampton, was built, and instead of a fine view across open countryside, Molineux House looked out on ranks of smoky rooftops.

In 1860 the Molineux family sold the house and by 1870 it had been turned into a hotel, with its gardens becoming Wolverhampton's first public park, albeit with an entry fee.

To bring in the crowds various sporting activities were promoted, and cycle races in particular drew in crowds of up to 20,000 people.

Across town a football team borne out of St Luke's church was drawing large crowds at its Dudley Road ground, and was looking for a bigger stadium.

Relationship

A deal was struck, the lake in Molineux Gardens was filled in, and a football pitch and stands were constructed and Wolverhampton Wanderers began its long relationship with the ground which still retains the name Molineux.

How fortunate that the name of the original owner of the house did not adhere to the property, because it would now be Rotton House and Rotton Stadium.

FOCUS ON HEDNESFORD

Snapshots on display at museum

PHOTOGRAPHERS Kate Taylor and David Peace are exhibiting their work at the Museum of Cannock Chase.

Kate's 'Elements' is on show at the Valley Road, Hednesford, venue, until August 17.

It features manipulated images and machine stitched works. Kate is a photographic artist who uses digital photography to capture and reproduce images, taking inspiration from what she sees in the world around her.

Kate also experiments with manipulative software to explore and enhance the light, colour and movement she finds. More recently she has started to use machine embroidery to enhance images with texture and pattern.

Platform

David, of Tamworth, will display his snaps publicly for the first time until August 24. They are on show in the museum's coffee shop and he hopes to provide a platform for his photographs to be enjoyed by visitors of all ages.

Aspects of New Zealand is a portfolio of snaps reflecting the cultural and scenic aspects of the country. They were taken while holidaying there this year.

Furniture maker branches out to start own business

A FURNITURE workshop is the latest business to open in Hednesford.

Thomas Whittingham only finished his course in furniture-making 12-months ago, but now he has taken the plunge and set up his own business at the Cannock Chase Enterprise Centre.

The 25-year-old from Coven makes hand-made furniture including desks, tables, chairs and stools.

by Charlotte Lilley

He decided to start his own business following the death of his father from a brain tumour in 2011 and enrolled at Williams and Cleal Furniture School in Somerset to pursue his dream.

Optimistic

He said: "I think Cannock Chase is the ideal location to set up a business like this and I am really looking forward to meeting with members of the community."

"This is my first shop and it is really exciting and I am optimistic it will do well."

"At the minute I am putting together the final touches but the workshop is now open for business so I hope to see lots of people coming to have a look at what is on offer."

Mr Whittingham's ability as a designer was recognised early on when one of his pieces, a desk, was awarded the Alan Peters Award at the Celebration of Craftsmanship and Design exhibition last year.

The exhibition promotes the best in fine furniture making and Mr Whittingham will return next month with three new pieces.

He added: "Many of my designs are inspired by the forms I see around me in the Staffordshire countryside and I feel they are enhanced by the use of carefully chosen native timbers."

"In the future I would like to set up another workshop somewhere else in the Midlands but right now my focus is on the Hednesford shop."

Fostering tips in store

SHOPPERS can find out more about fostering at Tesco supermarket in Hednesford later this month. The Victoria Street store will have a fostering team from St Christopher's on Thursday, July 31 from 9am to 5pm, who will be on hand to offer advice and information.

Turning on style to win a top award

A MAKE-up artist and hair stylist have scooped top awards at an international competition.

Helen Pearson, of Hednesford, and Gemma Neville came out top in the Wedding Expert Industry Awards.

The pair run separate businesses but work together on events.

They both won the best in Staffordshire and England awards for make-up and hair design respectively, while Gemma also won the worldwide contest.

The awards were voted for online.

Mother-of-two Helen, aged 33, started her Blissful Bridal Beauty company after quitting her job as a nurse. She said: "We have worked really hard and it's great that we have been recognised."

Gemma's Dream Bridal Hair began when she enrolled at Walsall College after spending years bringing up her two daughters.

The 32-year-old said: "I never expected to win the Staffordshire award, never mind any of the others"

Scout hut floor given vital repairs

CONSTRUCTION workers have put their skills to good use carrying out repair work on a scout hut.

Employees from Cannock-based Murphy, RMF Construction and Keyline, transformed the wooden floor of The Mary Elizabeth Allen scout hut on Mavis Road, Hednesford after it buckled.

Scout master Phil Foster said: "First District Hednesford Scouts operates out of a 30-year-old, second-hand building and, over time, the original wooden floor has buckled through wear and tear."

"This has caused it to bounce, meaning we have had to curtail some of the physical activities we do with the children."

"We looked into raising funds to repair the floor ourselves but this would have meant closing the hut for more than a month while parents and leaders worked on it in their spare time as well as a lengthy fundraising challenge."

"We really can't thank the team enough for all their help and assistance."

Raise issues with police

THE next Hednesford neighbourhood forum meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 22 at the clock tower in Market Street.

Residents can voice concerns and speak with police and councillors from 12pm.

Police officers will also report on what they have been doing to solve previous matters.

Fine food in the frame at historic village pub

EATING OUT

A PAIR who run a Penkridge photographic studio are also putting good food in the frame.

Jack Walton and Mitch Bromwell combine running the portrait and wedding picture studio in Pinfold Lane with their roles as licensees of White Hart in Stone Cross, which they have been in charge of since 2011.

Business has increased steadily since with Jack insisting they took over 'the right pub at the right time'.

They have now re-launched the restaurant at the Grade II listed building.

Dating back to the 1530s, the old coaching inn is one of the village's oldest, and most distinguished buildings.

The restaurant, 'Upstairs', took just over three months to refurbish and is now welcoming diners. It comprises three dining rooms, catering in all for around 60 diners.

Fitting

Pictures of village scenes and landmarks adorn the walls, and, only fitting for a pub steeped in nostalgia, there is a history of the local sites to accompany them.

Guests can sit in a waiting area and peruse the menu before being shown to their seats in the cosy, welcoming dining room. Accompanying music is played at just the right volume so it doesn't drown out the conversation.

The food is cooked from fresh, and well-priced too, though one would be better served pushing the boat out for three courses at £15. A single-course costs £11, with two courses set at £13.

Options included such culinary delights as stilton stuffed mushroom, which I chose as my starter, followed by an egg plant and red pepper tower.

Inside the dining area, Upstairs at the White Hart, Penkridge

The White Hart, Stone Cross, which has re-launched its restaurant

My other half was happy to go straight for the mains, and thoroughly enjoyed her pan fried salmon, served with parmentier potatoes and salad.

Dessert had to follow, of course, with shortbread served with strawberry cream and compote and lemon posset with a raspberry reduction our preferences.

There is a fair deal of competition with the pubs around the village, but one already feels this restaurant could forge out quite a reputation for itself. The pub remains popular with locals – and Upstairs could follow suit with the quality dining experience on offer.

Dining times are from 7-9pm on Wednesday to Saturday and from noon to 4pm on Sunday. Call 01785 748598. Mark Shipp

Nursery earns praise from Ofsted

Staff Emma Fox, Joanne Greene and Lisa Cooper, with children from Stepping Stones Day Nursery

A NURSERY is celebrating getting top marks from government inspectors. Stepping Stones in Heath Hayes was judged to be 'good with outstanding features' in its latest Ofsted report.

Inspectors were particularly impressed by the teaching at the Hayes Way nursery, which has 82 youngsters on roll.

The report gave special praise to the staff's 'inspirational' teaching which kept youngsters interested and motivated.

Manager Emma Fox said: "We're thrilled and incredibly proud. We make a big effort to prepare the children as well as we can for school. We've got a very dedicated team who know what to do to help the children flourish and thrive."

Father and son grew drug

A FATHER and son were caught growing cannabis in the back garden of their Cannock home, a judge heard.

Police stumbled across the crop of 33 plants with a street value of up to £14,000 by chance through a case of mistaken identity.

Officers went to arrest John Millington on another matter at his home in Longford Road, said Mr Neil Ahuja, prosecuting. Stafford Crown Court heard that while there, his son Christopher became aggressive, refusing to let the officers in to the house, claiming he needed to let the dogs out first.

But an officer saw him go out through the rear patio doors and begin throwing plants into the hedges.

Charge

Police also found a hydroponic cannabis-growing set-up with more unused hydroponic equipment in the garden summer house. John Millington, aged 59, was jailed for 12 months after admitting producing cannabis.

Christopher, aged 22, of the same address, admitted a similar charge and was sentenced to eight months suspended for two years, with 200 hours of unpaid work.

Mr Ahuja said the police's initial reason for wanting John Millington turned out to be a case of mistaken identity.

Mr Rob Perry, defending John Millington, said "His son had built up a fairly substantial debt in relation to drug usage. My client became involved in order to sort those debts out."

Pals unveil plaque in memory of crash pair

Joel Bradley and Natalie Nicholls with the plaque in memory of Daniel Powell and Steven Millman

A PLAQUE has been unveiled to commemorate the lives of two former Cheslyn Hay school friends who died in a car crash eight years ago.

Steven Millman and Daniel Powell were both 18 when they died in a road accident in Four Ashes in May 2006. Friends of the football loving pair have now honoured their memories by commissioning a plaque commemorating their lives.

It is displayed outside the pitches at Featherstone Community Centre in Baneberry Drive, where Steven and Daniel spent hours playing football. Natalie Nicholls raised money for the plaque by hosting a fundraising party at Brookfield Stables in Shareshill in May.

She said: "We all grew up together as one big family and I wanted to do something for everyone to remember them by."

Natalie, aged 24, unveiled the plaque with Joel Bradley, who also helped to organise the remembrance party. Steven and Daniel were pupils at Cheslyn Hay Sports and Community High and had attended an end of term party in the hours before the crash.

Costs for hospital takeover to double

PLANNING costs to move services from Stafford Hospital to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire are set to double.

Bosses at the Stoke-based hospital now expect the cost of an 'integration' team handling the takeover to cost £8.7million – up from £4.1 million this year.

Documents reveal UHNS already spent £3m last year on preparing for the switch over.

It comes as Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust is set to be dissolved with services at Stafford Hospital being stripped.

UHNS is paying auditors KPMG £2.2 million and legal firm Capsticks £200,000 to prepare for the transfer.

The overall cost of overhauling health care in the Stafford area is set to cost around £220m under plans from administrators.

Some services will also be transferred to Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust, which runs New Cross Hospital.

A trust spokesman said: "The integration with Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust (MSFT) is a significant challenge. The trust is working with partners KPMG and Capsticks to ensure that the integration with Stafford Hospital is as efficient as possible."

Bosses at Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital are to take over the running of Cannock Chase Hospital, which is also run by Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

Right royal do at the Palace for veteran nurse

A VETERAN nurse rubbed shoulders with royalty after attending a garden party at Buckingham Palace.

Rosemary Cage, a practice development facilitator with Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, was nominated for her long service. She has worked at the trust for almost 33 years, starting as a student nurse.

She also won the Chief Executive's Award at last year's Mid Staffs Stars, for which she was nominated by two separate colleagues.

Rosemary, who took her mother Margaret with her to London, said: "We had a fabulous time and we did actually see her Majesty. I was very proud to be nominated."

A spokesman for the hospital trust said: "She has been a constant member of the Mid Staffs family delivering care to the best of her ability, with compassion during what has been an historical challenge within the nursing profession here at Stafford."

"Rosemary has continued her professional career within the practice development team for the last several years actively contributing to improving patient care and experience."

Seamless

"She is instrumental to the development of care pathways and protocols, working alongside all disciplines across the trust to ensure the patient's journey is evidence based, meeting national standards resulting in improved, seamless and high quality patient care journeys."

"Rosemary very much works behind the scenes to develop such documentation and does not always get recognised for hard-work and contribution she makes."

Rosemary's mother Margaret also used to work at the trust as a receptionist, before she retired in 1990.

Approximately 8,000 guests attend each garden party with people from all walks of life who are invited on the recommendation of national organisations.

Tea and other refreshments are served from long buffet tables.

Rosemary Cage at Buckingham Palace

The quantities served are enormous. At a typical garden party, around 27,000 cups of tea, 20,000 sandwiches and 20,000 slices of cake are consumed. Some 400 waiting staff are involved in the serving.

Summer ball has carnival flavour

A CANNOCK sports bar will celebrate the finale of the World Cup this weekend by hosting a special charity carnival ball.

Bar Sport, in High Green, will host the Annual Charity Masquerade Summer Ball Rio Show on Saturday night.

The black tie and evening dress event will include a champagne reception, six-course meal, entertainment from comedian Tony Wallace. Another comic, Ollie Spencer, will be the compere for the evening.

There will be entertainment from the Soul Express party band and Brazilian showgirls who will be salsa dancing.

Money raised from the event will go to Team Margot and Great Ormond Street Hospital.

Scott Murray, owner of Bar Sport and The Premier Suite, said: "This annual charity ball always proves to be extremely popular. We raise money for Team Margot and Great Ormond Street Hospital which are two fantastic charities."

"This year we have a Brazilian theme to commemorate the World Cup and with the final this weekend it will be the perfect ending to a wonderful tournament."

He added: "It will be a brilliant night with lots of great entertainment including a great party band, Brazilian showgirls and a great comedian."

Those wishing to book tickets for the event should ring 01543 572092.

STAFF and regulars at a Rugeley pub lent their support for the Armed Forces, raising more than £1,000 at a charity day.

The Red Lion, in Main Road Brereton, was keen to show its appreciation for the job done by the troops and staged its first Red Lion fundraising day in aid of Help For Heroes on Armed Forces Day (June 28).

It featured the 1871 Rugeley Squadron Air Training Corps washing vehicles on the car park and the Stafford and Rugeley Sea Cadets who transformed the site into a mini-market offering a variety of stalls including a tombola, raffle, books, Splat the Rat, cakes, face painting and tattoos.

There was also a Help for Heroes merchandise stall, manned by pub volunteers and cadets.

Doves

The pub garden was transformed into a family event arena with a bouncy castle, reptile exhibition, barbecue and a karaoke/music tent.

The highlight was the release of a dozen white peace doves during the sounding of the Last Post.

Pub boss Neil Hutchings said: "A wonderful day was enjoyed by all with over £1,000 being raised for Help For Heroes."

Camera-shy because of failing teeth, images of a dream Caribbean wedding are missing a mum's proud smile but now she's . . .

THE SUN shone, the sea was as blue as the cloudless sky and a small, family group celebrated a wedding on the shoreline of paradise.

With the warm, golden sand beneath their feet, they toasted the happy couple and made memories that would last lifetimes.

Runaway Bay, one of the jewels of the Caribbean, had it all - magic, romance, a spectacular setting and the ultimate backdrop for wedding album pictures - and there were plenty to be taken.

But one person was noticeably absent from the captured images of the smiles, laughter and celebrations on that special day.

Only a single frame - a group shot, and not a close-up - featured the groom's proud mum. Jan had travelled more than 4,600 miles to embrace the Big Day moment with five others in the wedding party, but in her own words, "I didn't feel right."

Teeth were a mess

Everything was perfect, everyone was happy and "it was a lovely, lovely day," but Jan deliberately melted into the background every time the cameras clicked.

"I wouldn't have my picture taken," she confesses. "I know it seems strange, but I did not want to spoil the day for my son. That's the way I felt. Everything was lovely, I'd taken some lovely clothes, the setting was lovely and you couldn't have wished for better . . . the people, the ceremony in the pagoda, the beach bungalow where we stayed and the way the locals were so friendly to us."

"But my teeth were a mess. When I smiled you couldn't see any of my teeth and I was so embarrassed at the way they looked, I not only spoke with my hand in front of my mouth, I ate like that too," Jan, from Kidderminster, recalls.

Jan is all smiles as she tends one of her acer trees in her garden.

As the groom's mum, the focus of attention was emotionally crippling.

Now in her 60s, Jan's troubles began some 40 years ago. Suffering with a gum disorder in her lower jaw, her dentist carried out a full clearance.

"I had four lower teeth in the front where the trouble was, but I was told I had to lose them all. In those days you just accepted it. It was a horrible experience and those experiences stay with you," she says. Jan tolerated a catalogue of prosthetic prescriptions which never "felt comfortable or looked right" and for 15 years her food choices were seriously compromised.

"I couldn't eat apples, or pears, or steak and every time I went to a restaurant I'd have to order fish. My gums were always sore and I couldn't chew properly," she adds.

Jan's self-esteem hit rock bottom until she saw an article in the newspaper about Steven Burchell's work at the Denture Clinic in North Street, Dudley.

"My husband said I should book an appointment and I told him that he needed to get laser surgery on his eyes. He said 'I can live with glasses, but you can't live without your teeth.'"

It was true: Meeting Jan now is an engaging experience and she loves her new look.

"I'm planning to go back for our 50th wedding anniversary... guess who won't be frightened to have their picture taken then?"

"On the picture from the wedding my face seems so small, but my whole appearance has changed since meeting Steven. My only regret is that I didn't meet him earlier," she adds.

Steven CDT DipRCS(Eng) says: "Jan came to me with dentures that were not really helping here. She had a lot of gum and bone erosion - a natural ageing process - and her dentures were not stable."

Remarkable outcome

"She was not a suitable candidate for implant-retained over-dentures to address the stabilisation issues, so we make her some high quality, traditional dentures, ensuring a precise fit with the cutting-edge technology we have at the clinic. The clinical outcome was remarkable."

Says Jan, who has now taken her 85-year-old mother for some new teeth at the Denture Clinic: "All the way home after my new teeth were fitted I kept looking in the car's vanity mirror and smiling at myself. I was so chuffed. "I'm planning to go back to Runaway Bay with my husband in 2016 for our 50th wedding anniversary and guess who won't be frightened to have their picture taken then?"

As for her experience with Denture Clinic: "Simply the best! I can't thank Steven and his team enough."

New home sought for statue collection

Gerry Johnson, aged 88, from Great Wyrley, wants someone to take his statuette collection off his hands

A PENSIONER is seeking a new home for nearly 50 intricate African statuettes left to him by his late brother.

Gerry Johnson, 88, of Great Wyrley, was given the sculpted items by his brother Sydney on his return from Zimbabwe where he had lived and worked for 30 years.

Gerry is looking to find a new home for the collection, which includes wooden face masks, carved animals, and a soapstone chess set. He has looked after the items since his brother's death more than 10 years ago.

He said: "I want there to be some sort of legacy for them and for someone to take care of them. They were given to my brother by the natives who really appreciated him for providing jobs and taking care of them."

Gerry, a builder and quantity surveyor served with the Royal Navy around Burma and Thailand during the war.

Relief for residents as caravan bid refused

RESIDENTS have voiced their relief after plans to turn a back garden into an official campsite for caravans was turned down by South Staffs Council.

A campaign was launched against the plans put forward by Bill Watton.

He applied to the Camping and Caravanning Club to set up the certified campsite at the back of his house in Long Lane, Newtown, near Great Wyrley.

by Peter Madeley

The scheme would have paved the way for five caravans or motorhomes plus 10 tents.

A long-running campaign had previously seen an application for three caravans containing two gipsy households rejected.

Cheap

Members of Essington parish council provided the club with details of Mr Watton's previous applications.

Parish council chairman David Clift claimed the latest application was a 'cheap way to sneak planning permission by the back door' and that the club had said it had turned down the bid in light of the publicity.

He said the Camping and Caravanning Club had acted in a 'swift and decisive manner'. Residents had written to the club detailing their dismay at the plans.

Mike Tolliday, aged 69, who lives near the proposed site, said: "This is a residential area and we already have enough caravan sites."

"I made it clear to The Camping and Caravanning Club that Mr Watton has already tried this before."

"They have made the right decision in my view."

Another, who asked not to be named, said allowing a campsite on the land could set a 'dangerous precedent'.

There are currently two gipsy caravan sites on Long Lane and another one in nearby Essington Wood.

Mr Watton was unavailable for comment.

Vinyl chance for Lenny to make his acting debut at The Rep

Uplifting holiday romance

THE stage adaptation of 1987 film Dirty Dancing arrives at the Wolverhampton Grand Theatre this September, offering audiences the opportunity to revel in dance and romance in an upstate New York holiday resort circa 1963.

The roles of Baby and Johnny were immortalised on the big screen by Jennifer Grey and Patrick Swayze, whose chemistry made such an impact as the Romeo and Juliet of Kellerman's holiday resort. So much so that each generation, Dirty Dancing becomes part of the VHS/DVD/Blu-Ray collection.

The stunning salsa and mesmerising merengue and, of course, that climatic lift when Baby jumps into Johnny's arms, will be performed again at the Grand from September 23 to October 11 with Gareth Bailey and Roseanna Frasca in the lead roles.

Having the time of their life — Gareth Bailey and Roseanna Frasca as Johnny and Baby

DUDLEY-BORN comedian and actor Lenny Henry will headline Birmingham Repertory Theatre's autumn and winter 2014 season.

The comic turned acclaimed dramatic actor will star in the stage premiere of Rudy's Rare Records from September 4 to 20, his first role at the theatre. Based on his successful BBC Radio 4 series, written by Danny Robins and Henry, Rudy's Rare Records is a poignant comedy set in an old reggae record shop at risk of re-development in Birmingham.

Home

Henry plays Adam, son of shop owner Rudy, who reluctantly moves home to look after his dad and help run the shop.

Adapted for the stage by the writers, Rudy's Rare Records is directed by Paullette Randall and produced by Birmingham Repertory Theatre and Hackney Empire, where it will run after the premiere in Birmingham. The production will feature a live band onstage playing music made famous by Jimmy Cliff, Desmond Dekker and Bob Marley.

Henry said: "I've performed comedy gigs many times in Birmingham over the years, but this is my first straight acting role in the city and the first time I've been on stage at The Rep, which is something I'm really looking forward to."

Lenny Henry and his co-stars

"Growing up in Dudley I would come into Birmingham every Saturday to hang-out in a record shop not too dissimilar to Rudy's, so it's a play that's very close to my heart."

Roxana Silbert, artistic director at Birmingham Rep said: "We're delighted that Lenny will be bringing this brilliant show about three generations of a Birmingham family back home." Tickets cost from £12.50 to £35. Call the box office on 0121 236 4455.

Casualty (BBC1, 8.30pm)
The Beeb's flagship hospital drama is used to portraying people in desperate situations, but few go as far as one of tonight's patients. He's a drugs counsellor by trade who enlists the help of a former addict under his care to carry out a carjacking — all in a last-ditch attempt to get his hands on some cash. But why is he so willing to risk all in his bid for riches? The pieces start to fall together when he starts coughing up blood, and it seems that he's been keeping a dark secret from everyone, including his wife. Meanwhile, a leukaemia survivor seems to be struggling with motherhood. Could she be hurting her baby? Medical drama, starring George Rainsford, Richard Winsor, Chloe Howman and Amanda Mealing.

The two losing semi-finalists face each other to determine who finishes third and fourth, in a contest that will not doubt be overshadowed by the final, despite historically being one of the higher-scoring matches of each tournament. The corresponding fixture in 2010 was an entertaining affair, with Germany beating Uruguay 3-2 in a seasaw encounter that initially saw them go 1-0 up before the South Americans fought back to take a 2-1 lead early in the second half. The Night Watch (BBC2, 9pm)

Based on the acclaimed novel by Tipping the Velvet author Sarah Waters, this one-off drama opens in 1947, when the main characters, along with the rest of the country, are trying to rebuild their lives, and then works backwards through the 1940s to see just what happened to them during the war years. We are introduced to Kay (Anna Maxwell Martin), who ceaselessly roams the streets as if haunted by some tragic loss. Meanwhile, Helen (Claire Foy) and Viv (Jodie Whittaker) run a marriage bureau but their own personal lives are less than perfect – Viv seems unable to break free from her married lover, and Helen is pursuing a tumultuous relationship with a woman named Julia (Anna Wilson-Jones).

7.00 Match of the Day Live. Coverage of the final at the Estadio do Maracana in Rio de Janeiro (Kick-off 8.00pm), where the successors to 2010 champions Spain are crowned. This 20th staging of the tournament has been largely lauded as a great success, with a glut of goals, attacking football and some of the leading players in the world bringing their club form to the international stage. While several of the leading European nations made early exits, including Italy, England and the defending champions, the South American and CONCACAF sides demonstrated their ability, leaving few clues as to which team could find the consistency required to lift the trophy. A number of shock results added to the excitement and unpredictability of the tournament, but there have been relatively few surprises in the showpiece match over 10 years, with the last one being France's victory over Brazil in 1998, and before that, arguably Italy's triumph against West Germany in 1982 following their slow start to that campaign. A European success remains unlikely, especially as all four stagings of the World Cup in South America have been won by sides from that continent, with the last one being Argentina on home soil in 1978. In the event of extra-time and penalties, subsequent programmes are subject to change.

7.00 FIFA World Cup Live 2014. Coverage of the final at the Estadio do Maracana in Rio de Janeiro (Kick-off 8.00pm), where the successors to 2010 champions Spain are crowned. The Spaniards needed extra time to overcome the Netherlands in a tempestuous affair four years ago in South Africa, with Andres Iniesta striking after John Heitinga had been sent off for the losing side. However, Spain were unable to successfully defend their title this time around, losing 5-1 to the Dutch in their opening contest, before a further defeat against Chile sealed their fate just two games into their tournament. Argentina and Brazil began their campaigns among the favourites and they will know history is on their side if either have qualified for this encounter, as a team from South America has prevailed every time the continent has hosted a World Cup. In the event of extra-time and penalties, subsequent programmes are subject to change.

7.00 FIFA World Cup Live 2014. Coverage of the final at the Estadio do Maracana in Rio de Janeiro (Kick-off 8.00pm), where the successors to 2010 champions Spain are crowned. The Spaniards needed extra time to overcome the Netherlands in a tempestuous affair four years ago in South Africa, with Andres Iniesta striking after John Heitinga had been sent off for the losing side. However, Spain were unable to successfully defend their title this time around, losing 5-1 to the Dutch in their opening contest, before a further defeat against Chile sealed their fate just two games into their tournament. Argentina and Brazil began their campaigns among the favourites and they will know history is on their side if either have qualified for this encounter, as a team from South America has prevailed every time the continent has hosted a World Cup. In the event of extra-time and penalties, subsequent programmes are subject to change.

Pick of the Week

The new champions are finally crowned

Who's it between? Well, not the teams featuring in the World Cup final, but rather BBC v ITV. Both channels will be broadcasting the showpiece match, which takes place at the famous Estadio do Maracana in Rio de Janeiro and kicks off at 8pm, but which company will come out on top in the ratings?

The smart money is on the Beeb. After all, they have silver fox Gary Lineker at the helm, whose still boyish good looks, despite the fact he's in his fifties, will appeal to the non-football-loving ladies in the audience, while fans will simply enjoy his knowledge of the game.

The BBC also have some excellent pundits along with him, and we're hoping that Danny Murphy rather than Mark Lawrenson gets the co-commentator's spot.

The former Liverpool and Fulham star has been a revelation in this position – he's as interesting as poor old Phil Neville was dull during his first go at it during England's opening tie against Italy.

Not that ITV are the poor relations. Adrian Chiles does a decent job as their anchorman, while the likes of Gordon Strachan, Patrick Vieira and Lee Dixon have plenty to say for themselves.

Sadly, Fabio Cannavaro often looks like a rabbit caught in the headlights – he's charming, but perhaps needs a few more English lessons.

Also, it would be nice if his co-stars allowed him to get a word in edgewise every now and then.

The World Cup itself has been one of the best in recent memory. From the start, teams generally threw caution to the wind, opting to attack rather than sit back and defend, which led to some thrillingly open games.

Teams such as Chile, Costa Rica and Algeria surprised many by getting further than anyone (including probably themselves) thought possible, while the likes of Italy, holders Spain and, yes, England, fell by the wayside early.

Even the USA, a nation that for so long didn't seem to be able to get its head around the game they call soccer, finally appeared to embrace it, and the team only bowed out during the round of 16 after one of the most enthralling matches so far, which saw goalkeeper Tim Howard make a record-breaking 15 saves before Belgium beat them 2-1.

After watching so many great matches, we have high hopes for this year's final.

It surely can't be dirtier and more disappointing than the 2010 one anyway, when Spain scored in extra time to win 1-0 against a Netherlands team that was uncharacteristically dirty throughout the game.

Felipe Howard Webb sent off one player and handed out 14 bookings that afternoon in Johannesburg.

Who will actually lift the famous trophy is a mystery – there have been too many upsets and surprises so far to tempt us into guessing. What we do know is that it won't be anybody from the British Isles. Maybe our time will come in Russia in 2018, eh?

Gary Lineker, Match of the Day Live, Sunday, BBC1, 7pm

Best of the Rest

Monday

Long Lost Family, ITV, 9pm

Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell are back with a new run of a series which has proved amazingly popular. Although each episode features different people, their stories are often similar and the outcome – a tearful reunion – is the upshot of the research team's hard work. So, make sure you have plenty of tissues handy as we meet 63-year-old Ann Munro from Hampshire, who desperately wants a chance to tell her son why she gave him away when she was 21, and to ask for his forgiveness. There's also a chance to find out how Louise Kendall, a 28-year-old nurse from Bradford, gets on when she tracks down the French father she's never met.

Utopia

Channel 4, 10pm

The first series, broadcast in 2012, was a massive success, so we're expecting big things from this follow-up. It takes us back to 1979 and introduces us to Philip Carvel, a scientific genius who meets Milner, boss of powerful shadowy organisation The Network, at a secret forum involving boffins from various walks of life. They get on like a house on fire, and she encourages him to create Janus, a way of sterilising 95 per cent of the world's people which, she claims, will solve the world's overpopulation problem. But as time goes by, Carvel questions the project, particularly how it will affect his own children, in particular his beloved daughter Jessica. Tom Burke, Rose Leslie, Ed Birch, Anca Androne and Kevin Trainor star.

Tuesday

Hive Alive, BBC2, 8pm

Part one of two. Naturalist and Springwatch presenter Chris Packham and journalist and beekeeping enthusiast Martha Kearney are joined by expert Professor Adam Hart to explore the remarkable secrets of the lives and habits of bees. Midsummer is a critical time for the insects as they must gather enough food for the winter, so a specially designed hive equipped with an array of cutting-edge technology is used in order to monitor them and find out how they do it.

Coast

BBC2, 9pm

Following their recent Australian version, now the Coast team are back for a fresh run. They will be exploring more dramatic areas, telling stories, investigating notable landmarks and exploring mysteries that have played an important role in the coastal regions' development. In this first episode, the Coast crew explores the English Channel. Nick Crane experiences the secret life of Mont St Michel, a rocky outcrop which attracts over a million tourists a year. Mark Horton reveals how French mapmakers accidentally gave birth to Britain's Ordnance Survey some two centuries ago. And a few weeks after the world remembered the fallen, the team discover a poignant memorial to those who lost their lives during the D-Day campaign.

Wednesday

The Hotel Inspector Returns, Channel 5, 9pm

Alex Polizzi returns to the White Hart in St Albans, Hertfordshire, a reputedly haunted 15th-century hotel run by husband-and-wife Ross and Jayne McBeath, who had taken the ghoulish inspiration to extremes with novelty plastic skeletons and a horror-themed menu. Alex suggested that the proprietors drop the ghost tours and concentrate on the rich history of the building and surrounding area. Two years on, will she find a successful business – or will it be dead and buried?

The Mimic

Channel 4, 10pm

Return of the comedy about a talented impressionist who's stuck in a rut. Since leaving his maintenance job for a big break on TV, things haven't quite gone to plan for Martin and he's having trouble finding work. As his son Steven decides to go travelling – unable to cope after the death of his mother – Martin hires Neil as his new agent. However, his first gig is not exactly what he had been hoping for – busking at a shopping centre. Terry Mynott stars.

The Hotel Inspector Returns, Wednesday, Channel 5, 9pm

Thursday

Talk to the Animals, BBC1, 8pm

Lucy Cooke concludes her global exploration into the world of animal 'speak', focusing on how they talk to friends and enemies and even what they say to their neighbours. The zoologist discovers the many uses of the spotted hyena's call, tricks some vervet monkeys into warning each other of danger and finds out that dolphins not only greet one another, they also have unique signatures.

Friday

The Village That's Falling Into the Sea, BBC1, 7.30pm

On December 5th last year, the Norfolk seaside resort of Hemsby was devastated by the worst storm surge the east coast had seen in 60 years. It resulted in three homes being swept into the sea and another four getting unthinkably damaged. However, this wasn't the first time the village had experienced such loss – their coastline is slowly being eroded at a cost of almost 70 properties over the past few decades. In this one-off programme, presenter David Whiteley meets the residents.

BBC Proms 2014

BBC2, 8pm

The 120th season of the classical music festival gets under way at London's Royal Albert Hall as Katie Derham introduces a performance of Elgar's biblical oratorio The Kingdom, a portrayal of the acts of the disciples after the ascension of Jesus. Andrew Davis conducts the BBC Symphony Orchestra and Chorus and the BBC National Chorus of Wales.

The best of Ford on show

Hundreds of old Fords will once again converge at the Heritage Motor Centre when it hosts the sixth Old Ford Rally with the Ford Y&C Club.

The show, which takes place on Sunday, July 27, is the biggest rally of old Fords in the UK and expected to showcase over 500 vehicles.

Old Fords and all derivatives including commercials, tractors and vehicles with a Ford engine, built up to 1990, will be on display exhibiting the tremendous range of vehicles produced by one of the world's biggest manufacturers.

This year the show will not incorporate the Transit Van Clubs annual Rally, which will now take place from August 8 to 10 alongside the new Classic Van and Pick Up Show.

On display will be a wide range of vehicles from the Model T to cars of the pre-war austerity years, plus agricultural vehicles, Thames and Ford commercial and military vehicles and the more luxurious post-war Zephyrs, Zodiacs and Granadas, along with the Mk1 and Mk2 family Cortina's and Ford Anglia's and Escorts.

Tickets for the rally cost £12 on the day for adults, £8 for children and £34 for a family. Discounted tickets are available in advance online. Visit www.heritage-motor-centre.co.uk for event details and ticket prices or call 01926 645031. Gift Aid season tickets and Tesco vouchers are also valid on this day.

The new SEAT Leon X-perience, with permanent four-wheel drive and all-road equipment combines emotional design with state-of-the-art technology, together with optimum usability and surprising versatility.

With an exceptionally high level of performance and safety, the latest-generation all-wheel drive and a full array of state-of-the-art assistance systems, the Leon X-perience is offered with 2.0 TDI 150PS and 184PS outputs.

The new Leon X-perience completes SEAT's highly successful Leon range. Alongside the dynamic two-door Leon SC, the elegant five-door Leon, the versatile Leon ST estate and the high-performance Leon Cupra, the Leon X-perience is the perfect companion for a varied and active lifestyle.

"The new Leon X-perience interprets our emotional design language in a whole new way. This functional aesthetic, this elegant robustness and safety shows an openness to new ideas. We maintain the youthful spirit with a distinctive feel for the practical things in life" says Jürgen Stackmann, president of SEAT SA.

"The Leon X-perience is the perfect fit for SEAT. As the next step in our brand strategy, it will expand and consolidate the great success achieved by the Leon."

Alongside the latest-generation TDI engines and permanent all-wheel drive with intelligent, electronic control, the Leon ST X-perience boasts all-road suspension with extra ground clearance. A distinctive off-road look and individual interior offer an added dimension of driving fun, together with a wide array of ultra-modern technologies. These include a four-wheel EDS dynamic control system (electronic differential locks on both axes), an extended electronic differential lock for better traction while cornering (XDS), an electronic stability programme and a multi-collision brake system delivering maximum safety.

Further optional hi-tech features include full-LED headlights, ACC Adaptive Cruise Control with City Emergency Brake function, drowsiness detection and lane-keeping assistant.

"The Leon X-perience also offers outstanding safety in all situations, thanks to its superb traction, excellent brakes and integrated assistance systems that extend all the way to ACC adaptive cruise control with Front Assist and emergency braking function."

The highly acclaimed design language of the Leon family has been further accentuated for the X-perience. Sharp lines provide the all-road estate with a stunning appearance of energy and vitality. The dynamic silhouette is long and graceful, yet the Leon X-perience offers the full spectrum of usability for work and leisure, family and sport. The luggage compartment offers a carrying capacity of 587 litres, which extends to as much as 1,470 litres with the rear-seats folded down.

Character

The Leon X-perience derives its own distinct character from the robust protection moulding on the door sills and wheel arches. The powerful front end is adorned with substantial air intakes and integrated fog lamps with cornering light function, plus the front spoiler with its aluminium-look. The rear end, too, is distinguished by its new bumper with an aluminium-look insert and by the chrome tailpipes, which are standard on the 2.0 TDI 184PS. The large wheel arches can accommodate 17in or optional 18in wheels in a dedicated five-twin-spoke design. The roof rails are finished in black.

The Leon X-perience has a unique trim. In the interior, new materials, attention to detail and a combination of strong colours give this car more personality. It offers the black and grey sporty elegance of high-quality fabric upholstery, as well as the option of brown Alcantara or all-black leather seats.

The dynamic character of the Leon X-perience is perfectly matched with two TDI engines that are as gutsy as they are efficient, plus a six-speed manual transmission. The common-rail four-cylinder units produce 150 PS and 184 PS. The standard fit Start/Stop System and Energy Recover System are key elements of the efficiency package.

The top engine is the 2.0 TDI with 184 PS. With its maximum torque of 380Nm and DSG transmission as standard, it delivers enormous dynamism that is only partially conveyed by its acceleration time of 7.1 seconds from 0 to 62mph and its top speed of 139mph. The engine declares its efficiency with a combined fuel consumption figure of 55.4mpg and CO2 emissions of 133 grams per kilometre.

The 2.0 TDI with 150PS, 320Nm of torque and six-speed manual transmission also provides effective propulsion for the Leon X-PERIENCE, boasting a fuel consumption figure of 57.6mpg (CO2: 126 g/km).

The Leon X-PERIENCE is available to order from September and will reach UK showrooms later in 2014.

Admit this Trojan into your camp to do a top class job

By John Griffiths

Mitsubishi's L200 Trojan follows a long line of martial-sounding pickups. The L200 Trojan double cab is a value-packed addition to Mitsubishi's evergreen pick-up range, weighing in at a lot less than the Warrior and Barbarian models.

It's got all the gear you need to get the job done without making you pay for fripperies.

Under the bonnet, there's now a more efficient 175bhp Euro 5-compatible diesel engine with 30 per cent more power than before and 27 per cent more torque.

As before, buyers get the option of leather upholstery and metallic paint.

Mitsubishi's L200 pick-up series needs little in the way of introduction, having been around in one form or another for over 25 years.

The powerplant is the same 2.5-litre common-rail diesel unit that powers all L200 models. There are varying flavours of this engine but the one to have is the 175bhp unit – which is exactly what this Trojan model now gets, a unit with 30 per cent more power than before and 27 per cent more torque, 400Nm now being on offer. That means you're rarely found wanting for sheer lugging power, even when you have the bed stacked full. The Trojan doesn't boast one of those engines that has you wondering what sort of fuel to put in, the diesel catching with a rasp and settling into a distinctly blue collar back chatter.

The independent double wishbone front suspension does a good job of filtering the worst jolts but the heavy duty leaf springs at the back can bounce a little with an unloaded bed.

You'll be glad of them when you have the vehicle groaning under the weight of a hefty consignment.

Chassis rigidity has been greatly improved compared to previous generation L200 models, lessening vibration and boosting handling.

Buyers used to smooth SUV passenger cars will probably wish for a little less involvement.

Softened

The Mitsubishi L200 doesn't look like many other pickups. Curves are not things we're used to seeing on macho pick-up trucks but the L200 is smothered in them.

The front end, obviously Mitsubishi, is softened with rounded edges for grille and headlamps, plus oval recesses for the circular fog lights.

The rear edge of the cab arcs down and around the vehicle's lower edge, while the compound curves of the tailgate and windows are a world away from more set-square rivals.

The Trojan gets a similar Super Select full-time 4x4 set-up to that found in Mitsubishi's Shogun.

It allows the L200 to be driven in front-wheel drive or four-wheel drive mode on the road without the excessive wear and tear suffered by part time systems as a result of transmission wind-up.

In slippery off road situations, a further 4WD mode can be selected which maximises traction by locking the rear differential.

Both of the systems are operated by the traditional and rather clunky lever sited alongside the gear stick which seems slightly dated when compared to the dash-mounted dials used by rival manufacturers.

Stability

All of the Super Select L200 models feature the M-ASTC traction and stability control system as standard. You'll value that when accelerating hard on wet roads with nothing in the bed.

The L200 line-up starts with the 4Work and 4Life models, with the Trojan slotting in beneath the Warrior, Barbarian and Walkinshaw models.

I'm wondering what the late, famously irascible Mr Walkinshaw might have thought about being grouped in such company.

A no-nonsense sort of guy, I should imagine he'd have been drawn to the practicality of the L200.

The Trojan doesn't have a huge equipment list but you can expect to find an MP3-compatible CD stereo, climate control, electric windows all round, a multifunction trip computer, 16-inch alloy wheels, chromed outer door handles, a category one alarm, colour-coded wheel arch extensions and privacy glass. But what more do you need for a work-horse?

Expect to pay around £18,000 for your L200 Trojan excluding the VAT

Courier is a good move

By David Banner

When it comes to vans, one size most certainly doesn't fit all.

Van users have hugely diverse needs and the fragmentation of the van market into different size classes has provided manufacturers with the opportunity to really tailor vans to specific purposes.

Take the Ford Transit Courier. You used to know where you were with a Ford Transit. It was a big, blocky thing and it had all the sophistication of a stag weekend in Magaluf. Buyers loved it though. It was rugged, inexpensive and did the job. Now the Ford Transit is a brand that encompasses a number of different models.

It's a lucrative strategy too, with the upswing in commercial vehicles sales post-recession. Ford expects Transit range sales to grow to 400,000 units per year by 2016, well over 50 per cent more than its 2012 figure and key to that will be the smallest member of the Transit retinue, the Transit Courier.

Although you don't get any choice when it comes to body styles, you'll need to come to a decision about the oily bits under the bonnet.

The Courier is available with highly-efficient diesel and petrol engines that target best-in-class fuel economy and offer Auto-Start-Stop on all units. Customers can choose between the Dagenham-built 1.5-litre 75PS and 1.6-litre 95PS Duratorq TDCi diesel engines, plus the tiny 1.0-litre 100PS EcoBoost petrol engine, the 'International Engine of the Year' 2012.

City vans need to do that seemingly impossible thing of being big on the inside but as small as is practicable outside, which is one reason why they all look much of a muchness, namely a cube and a bonnet with the marque's family face grafted on the front.

Flared

The Transit Courier doesn't deviate too far from this template although the steeply raked windscreen does give it more of a one-box look. Couple that with the typically hefty Ford front grille and some subtly flared wheel arches and it looks handsome. You could see a few of these being converted to surf vans with the right wheels and paint.

But the Courier isn't just about looking good. It's also about making the working environment easy and hassle free.

Get inside and you'll find well-sculpted front seats and a dashboard that wouldn't look out of place in a family car, nice use of metallic finishes, wheel-mounted audio controls and a centre console that's pretty close to what you'd get if you'd bought a new Fiesta.

Underpins

That's no real surprise as the Transit Courier rides on Ford's global B-segment chassis which underpins cars like the B-MAX and the Fiesta.

Luxury options include a voice-activated in-car connectivity system, rear-view camera, easy fuel, speed limiter and standard electronic stability control, plus a class-leading variety of safety features. Perhaps the neatest optional touch is the clever Ford Sync with Emergency Assistance set-up.

The Transit Courier delivers load volume of 2.3m³ with a standard full bulkhead and an overall length of 4.16 metres.

Practicality highlights include the longest-in-class load length at floor level of 1.62 metres, the best in class access width through sliding rear side doors, a full-height, full-width steel bulkhead (glazed or unglazed) and full compliance with DIN and ISO standards for load restraints.

With a generous load volume and maximum payload capacity of 660kg, the Transit Courier can accommodate a wide variety of cargo and equipment.

Attractive styling, great engines and a whole lot of consideration poured into making a small van work like a big 'un has resulted in what looks certain to be a sales winner.

Freelander a class act

By John Griffiths

Land Rover has unveiled the most luxurious and best equipped Freelander ever – and despite all the extra kit it costs less than the previous flagship of the range.

And we know there will never be a better Freelander because the model is due to be replaced next year by the Discovery Sport.

Most manufacturers produce special editions during a model's run-out period, and in this case it's the £35,995 Metropolis which builds on the previously top-of-the-range HSE Lux with premium Windsor leather, electrically-adjustable seats, a panoramic sunroof, xenon headlights, a reversing camera, premium metallic paint, gloss black interior highlights and new 19in alloy wheels.

Launched at the Windsor Horse Show, it heads up a completely revised Freelander range, with new trim levels and power train options.

It should boost Freelander sales at a time when the popularity of compact SUVs is still growing, as is the choice and sophistication of the competition.

That said, the Freelander 2 already has the advantage of being instantly recognisable as a product of the iconic marque, with styling cues taken from the Discovery and of course, the Range Rover.

For many that makes it an object of desire, and does secondhand values no harm at all.

Off-roader

The 4x4 Freelander is a serious off-roader, but it's also roomy and comfortable everyday transport on the road: and in the case of the Metropolis downright luxurious. It's the ultimate Freelander, in a range which has been moving further upmarket with each successive revision.

Driver and passengers can relax in the plush leather and in air conditioned comfort, while enjoying the same high-powered surround sound system fitted to top Jaguar models.

A central colour touch-screen provides compact and easy-to-use controls for the satnav, audio and Bluetooth telephone systems.

It is, naturally, powered by the top engine in the range, the 190PS, 2.2-litre, four-cylinder diesel which can take it from a standstill to 62mph in under ten seconds and average a little over 40mpg.

The smooth and responsive automatic transmission is standard: you have to concentrate to even feel the changes which adds to the car's upmarket feel.

That feeling is echoed in the interior: not just the Metropolis extras but the styling cues on the instruments and controls which just scream Range Rover.

A previous makeover simplified the switchgear, removing for example the big 'Terrain Response' knob so that there's now just one switch allowing you to scroll through a menu of settings which govern how the gears, throttle and steering respond best in any given conditions.

Land Rover prides itself on the superior off-road capabilities of all its cars and the Freelander is no exception. But long gone are the days of the Series I's rough ride resulting from the necessarily beefy, long travel suspension.

Now they have to compete with the comfort and ride quality of their less versatile rivals on the road where, let's face it, SUVs will spend most of their time.

The Freelander soaks up the bumps, with a smooth, sa-loon car-like ride while the engine is refined and quiet. High-speed cornering in a high vehicle like this inevitably means some body roll, but it's not enough to cause discomfort.

If the original Freelander was the baby of the range, the Freelander 2 is the teenager because it grew in all directions, so it's now not all that far behind its more expensive siblings in terms of room for five passengers. The 755 litres of boot space makes it useful family transport and by folding down the three rear seats you can extend that to 1,670 litres. The towing limit is 2,000kg.

Electric windows and mirrors, split/fold rear seats, rear parking sensors, and electronic safety systems such as dynamic stability control are standard across the new Freelander range, which consists of five models.

All are now powered by the same turbo-diesel engine, with three trim levels (including Metropolis) – the other two both come with manual or auto gearbox options. The new line-up starts from £27,765.

New Ibiza FR proves a hit with cylinder switch action

By John Griffiths

The SEAT Ibiza FR variants are now fitted with the 1.4 TSI ACT engine – and a very good one it is too.

With the ability to cut to two cylinders when cruising, the efficiency of this car has been transformed.

It's still pretty quick, but this supermini is now a whole lot more cost-effective to own.

Right. We've got to start by wading through that sea of acronyms if you're going to understand what this car is about (the deep breath) 'Ibiza 1.4 TSI ACT FR 140PS'. The FR badge on the back of a SEAT Ibiza signifies that it's a slightly sporty version.

Not as hot as a Cupra, true, but still capable of delivering some payback if you point it at a twisty road. The 1.4 TSI part is the engine, in this case a turbocharged 1.4-litre four-cylinder unit, with stratified injection which develops an output of 140PS.

The ACT bit though, is probably most important: it's what makes that powerplant a little bit special. 'ACT' stands for 'Active Cylinder Technology'. This alternates between two and four cylinder modes, depending on the power required, in less than 40 milliseconds, making the transition between the two seamless. We'll have a look at what that means in real terms later.

You're probably used to this shape Ibiza by now. It's the facelifted version of the fourth generation car, launched in 2008. The revisions to the styling came in 2012 and the sharply creased exterior still looks crisp and fresh. If you're looking for value from a Volkswagen Group product, here's a good place to start.

You'll be forgiven if you get a sense of déjà vu here, because SEAT has offered a 1.4-litre TSI version of the Ibiza before, but that model featured a 150PS motor supplemented by both a turbocharger and a supercharger.

Smoothness

As technically intriguing as that engine was, it didn't really make the efficiency numbers that today's buyers have come to expect, hence the availability of this much cleaner 140PS unit. It's still pretty zippy, getting to 62mph in 7.8 seconds and running onto 130mph, so it doesn't cede much in terms of performance to the 150PS unit.

We've seen this engine in a whole host of Volkswagen Group products including the Golf, the Audi A3 and SEAT's own Leon and it never ceases to impress with its smoothness and tractability.

The Ibiza FR looks the part with 16" alloy wheels, special bumpers and twin tailpipes.

Take a seat inside and while there's still quite a lot of black plastic on display with the focus remaining on functionality, soft-touch finishes are used in all the crucial areas and Ibiza regulars will notice the improvements made to this revised Ibiza model – the higher tone paint surfaces, the improved seat materials and, where fitted, the sleeker finish to the Climatronic climate control system.

You now get a significantly larger 10.7-litre glove compartment too, now boasting space for a lot more than just the usual owners manual, mobile charger and bag of gummy bears.

In the back, the three-door Ibiza SC's swooping roofline will make headroom an issue for taller folk, but five-door and ST estate models should seat two adults and/or three children quite comfortably. As for bootspace, the three-door SC variant offers 284-litres of luggage space, marginally less than the 292-litre total offered by the five-door bodystyle. If you want more, the ST estate model ups that total to 430-litres.

Equipment

Prices open at just over £15,000 for the three-door Ibiza SC FR, with around £500 more netting you the five-door version.

Like all Ibizas, this one also gets front electric windows, tinted glass, a four-speaker MP3-compatible CD stereo with AUX-in point and steering wheel controls, remote central locking, a 12v power socket and a height-adjustable driver's seat.

The SEAT Ibiza is a car that seems to refuse to age. Even the earliest of the fourth generation cars still look crisp and fresh but it's fair to say that the march of technology is outpacing our aesthetic appreciation.

In short, the 1.4 TSI engine that the Ibiza used to ship with just wasn't competitive anymore. You expect a 44mpg economy figure from an executive saloon these days, not a wamish supermini.

SEAT needed to do much, much better.

Thankfully it has. The 1.4 TSI ACT engine lifts that economy figure to the right side of 60mpg, is offered in all three Ibiza body styles and suits the slightly sporting FR trim very well.

Cherokee from Jeep big player in sector

By John Griffiths

Jeep has just launched an all-new Grand Cherokee model but you will have to wait if you want the 3.0CRD V6 variety which was recently on test.

The new model will initially only be available in 2.0 litre variants so I was glad to get to grips with the bigger diesel for a week.

You just can't question the credentials of this formidable off-roader, which comes with loads of equipment, but air springs are a must if you intend to spend most of the time on-road.

The 3.0-litre V6 diesel engine is available in two tunes. The 188bhp version is available only in entry-level trim, while the rest of the range gets 247bhp.

On test was the 247bhp version in CRD trim, a slick eight-speed auto transmission with a low-ratio.

By any standards the Grand Cherokee is big and you would have to say a bit cumbersome. But you have to remember it's a Jeep with more history than the competition and that its origins lie off-road.

It's not quiet either, with engine noise always a problem, though wind and road noise are on a par if not better than some of the opposition.

The Grand Cherokee is now nothing like the early model which left you in little doubt that it was developed as a workhorse. Things are a lot more refined today and while not a cheap option it does cost less spec-for-spec than its main rivals.

Comfortable

Huge, armchair-like seats make it easy to find a comfortable position while the dash is entirely dominated by a huge colour touch screen that's easy to use despite the bewildering array of information on offer.

There's 782 litres of boot space despite the presence of a full-size spare beneath the floor - that's massive and an outstanding feature in the sector. It's disappointing though that there is no seven-seat option.

You do get masses of leg and headroom for all five seats though and comfort levels are a million miles away from those experienced in previous models.

You're pretty safe in a Jeep with front, side, curtain and driver's knee airbags, plus various systems warning you if you're about to have an incident.

Combined fuel consumption figures of 37.7mpg are very impressive, though you won't win many friends these days with omission figures of 198g/km.

Control

There's a top speed of 126mph and 0-62mph in 8.2secs and while fuel bills might be low expect to pay a high cost for insurance with the model sitting in the group 43 level.

On the road, the 3.0litre Summit will set you back just under £50,000 but you do get climate control, automatic wipers, USB and auxiliary inputs, front and rear parking sensors, a rear-view camera, leather upholstery, a powered tailgate, electrically adjustable and heated front seats, and a stereo upgrade.

There's also sat-nav, a sunroof, blind-spot monitor and adaptive cruise control and a 19-speaker Harman Kardon stereo.

You get a real sense of being in control when driving the Grand Cherokee, after all you do look down on most other vehicles.

But most of all you do feel safe. For those used to driving the bigger 3.0-litre models, the wait for the new-look model will probably be worthwhile. Once you have owned a vehicle this size the rest are irrelevant.

in memoriam

CAPEWELL

Mavis

If roses grow in Heaven Lord, please pick a bunch for us.
Place them in my Mothers arms,
and tell her they are from Family.

And tell her we love and miss her,
and when she turns to smile, place a kiss upon her cheek,
and hold her for a while.

Because remembering her is easy,
we miss her everyday.
But there is ache within our hearts, that will never go away.

From All the Family.

Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Tennis for free at leisure centre

CHESLYN Hay Tennis Club is offering free sessions throughout July at the village leisure centre.

Anyone visiting the courts in Saredon Road on Saturday, July 19 can get involved in mini-tennis for five to 10-year-olds from 1-2pm; junior tennis, aged 11-to-16 from 2-3pm and adults mix-in from 3 to 4pm.

Racquets and balls will be provided so anyone can get involved whether they've never tried tennis before, want to get back into the game or is a regular player.

This is in addition to free tennis sessions for 11-to-16-year-olds every Monday from 5-6pm as part of Sport England's Sportivate programme and Cheslyn Hay's existing tennis sessions for juniors, aged five to 16 and adults throughout the week.

Chris Perrin, who will be leading the activities alongside other coaches, said: "This is the perfect opportunity to experience tennis in a friendly atmosphere."

To booking for free sessions, go to tiny.cc/freetennischeslynhay; email cheslynhaytennis@live.com or call Chris on 07969 829318. For more about the club, go to cheslynhaytennis.weebly.com

Hayes to encounter the Pitmen

HEATH Hayes FC are hoping for a good turn out this Saturday when they welcome neighbours Hednesford Town in a pre-season friendly at Newlands Lane, kick off 3pm.

On Saturday, July 19 Steve Taylor's side visit Stafford Town, also at 3pm and on Wednesday July 23, they entertain Rushall Olympic with a 7.45pm kick off.

The club feels the national cup draws have not been very kind to them this time round.

They are facing a visit to a resurgent Walsall Wood in The FA Cup and another away tie to what has become the club's bogey side, Continental Star, who they will meet in The FA Vase.

Spanish trialists at Saddlers as striker to join

WALSALL were ready to welcome two Spanish trialists as Dean Smith closed in on another forward signing.

The duo have been summoned following the manager's close season scouting trip to Spain and will be put through their paces with the Saddlers this week.

Smith is also set to complete a deal for a striker later today, having agreed terms with a player late last week.

Working with one of the division's tightest playing budgets, Smith has always been keen to explore new ways of finding players and that was the motivation behind the Spanish mission. He admits both players could be signed up should they impress during the trial.

Football

"It's just to have a look at them and see where they are at in terms of our level and the level they are at, in terms of where they have been playing," he said.

"If it fits with us there is a possibility of them signing, if not they will go back but we will keep that relationship open and hope there is something which comes up.

"One of the lads is someone we saw out there and the other is someone who came up and is available. It helps when there are two of them, as they can speak Spanish together!"

Smith has put the emphasis on finding attacking players after his side struggled for goals last term.

But one player who won't be signing at the Banks' for next season is Milan Lalkovic. The forward scored six goals during a season long loan with the Saddlers last season from Chelsea and was released by the Premier League club last month.

But Smith believes the Slovakian under-21 international has had offers from abroad and will not be returning.

"I have spoken to Milan and he won't be coming back," he said. "I think he may have offers from abroad and I know there are teams that have enquired too from the Championship."

"I had a really good chat with him. He is a really good lad and I have a lot of time for him. He actually said that he didn't want to go to another League One team out of courtesy to us, which is a lovely thing to say."

Light now at end of the tunnel for Villa

HISTORIC football club Pelsall Villa which faced closure has secured its future for the coming months, bosses have said.

A new manager has been recruited and an event has been organised that is expected to rake in up to £5,000 for the club.

Pelsall has been struggling to survive after a small band of dedicated volunteers were left trying to run the club themselves. They are still looking for a new chairman but current chief Mark Bentley said new recruit Dave Downing would ease the pressure.

Mr Bentley's son Andrew was acting as player-manager for the first team, but he will now be able to dedicate more time to keeping the club going.

Mr Downing has previously worked with Komulus FC in Sutton Coldfield, came forward after the club appealed for help.

Balance

And an evening with Walsall FC legend Jimmy Walker at Pelsall Social Club on July 31 will attract up to 250 people at £20 a ticket.

Mr Bentley insisted the club still needs 'all the help we can get' but added: "Instead of doom and gloom there is a light at the end of the tunnel now."

At a crunch meeting last month he warned if a new chairman was not found within weeks the club could fold as he could not balance the role with a full-time job and his family.

But now first team duties have been taken off his son he believes he can continue as chairman if needed - though he hopes a successor will still be found.

Football

He said: "Things are looking brighter now and if the Jimmy Walker event is a success then that will be a big boost."

"We have a got a committee sorted out now and new manager so if no-one comes forward then I will continue as chairman, though I can't commit to it as wholeheartedly as I would have liked."

"I don't want to see this club fold."

The club will still need help to continue beyond this season and Mr Bentley says they are 'taking it one step at a time' at the moment.

The club currently play in the Midland Football Combination league but records show that football was played in Pelsall as long ago as 1898.

The two world wars meant football took a back seat for a few years, but the club reformed in 1961, which heralded the start of Pelsall Villa as it is known today. The club attracted one of its biggest attendances in 1991 when Aston Villa stars turned out for a match celebrating floodlights being installed.

Kit allows team to get a pizza the action

The team from Chase View Primary wearing the kit with Domino's franchisee Ben Sandy

A RUGELEY school football team will get a pizza of the sporting action in a new kit thanks to a local fast food franchise.

The team from Chase View Primary School on the Pear Tree estate are delighted after being presented with a new playing kit courtesy of Domino's Pizza Store in the town.

This followed on from the Year 5 class at the school visiting the shop recently and was the idea of franchise owner Ben Sandy to further develop links with the school team.

The new kit has come at a great time for the team as they have enjoyed a successful season winning their local league and finishing as runners-up in the West Bromwich Albion Schools' Cup.

With all of the team currently in Years 4 or 5, they will all still be at Chase View next term and hope their kit will spur them on to even more success.

In the first game with the squad wearing the new strip, they beat their opponents 9-0 in a nine minute game with all nine goals coming from 10-year-old Reiss Walters.

Rugby side out to exact revenge

CANNOCK Rugby Club will be hosting the Nationwide Rugby Sevens teams this Saturday to seek revenge and defeat last year's champions Crewe and Nantwich RUFC.

Originally devised as a pre-season fitness exercise for the 15-a-side game, it is played on a full-sized rugby pitch for seven minutes each half, but has now developed into its own game and has a tournament that is played worldwide.

The fun kicks off at the Morgan Ground in Huntington at 11am with 15 teams confirmed.

For the visitors, the bar and barbecue will be open all day.

After the final an open mic night will take place in the clubhouse giving a chance to many of the local artists to perform to what will hopefully be a packed house.

Club chairman Dave Taylor said: "This sevens tournament is an important piece of the Cannock RUFC's pre-season training regime as we attempt for another ground-breaking season."

"However, as with all of Cannock's events we want all the family to enjoy and show off our facilities, some of the best in the county," he added.

Brummies speedway team folds

BIRMINGHAM Brummies speedway team has folded.

The announcement comes after the decision of promoter Alan Phillips to pull out. It means the club will be removed from the Elite League and its records expunged for this season.

The Brummies, who lost their last fixture 56-39 away to Belle Vue on Monday, were formed in 2007 and are currently second from bottom of the table. It is hoped speedway can continue at Perry Barr in some format.

A statement from the British Speedway Promoters' Association read: "The Association can confirm the annulment of Birmingham Brummies Ltd. This is a decision made in accordance with speedway regulations."

Firsts go top after 136-run triumph

Cannock 1sts 246-9 Swindon 1sts 110 - Cannock win by 136 runs
CANNOCK comfortably moved to the top of the Staffs Premier league.

For Cannock, Aussie Anthony Samms scored 91 and Ed Fleet 31. Opening spells of 3-46 from Fleet and 3-30 from Qam Abbas meant Swindon would not reach their target. Connor Shingler took 2-4.

Cannock 2nds 110 Swindon 2nds 139 - Swindon won by 29 runs
Cannock slipped to a disappointing defeat despite restricting Swindon to 139, with Dan Wood taking 4-14. Cannock were all out for 110 with tail-ender Kieran Squire top scoring with 23.

Cannock 3rds 116 Codsall 1sts 117-7 - Codsall won by 3 wkts.
Another disappointing result sees Cannock stuck at the foot of the Staffs Clubs Division 2.

Cannock scored just 116 with Owen Davies (26) top scoring. Despite nursing a broken thumb, Phil Heighway (5-12) had given Cannock hope.

Cannock 4ths 163-8 Old Wulfs 4ths 80 - Cannock won by 83 runs Mark Boden (38) and Jamie Fleet (26) top scored for Cannock. Fleet then took a personal best 7-14.

Albion in deal with sponsors

ALBION have ended their summer search for a new main sponsor by clinching a deal with a multi-billion pound American-based business QuickBooks.

The Baggies will carry the brand the software accountancy solution on the new shirts to be launched tomorrow (Friday). The deal is thought to be in the same region as the £1m-a-year Zopa sponsorship.

Albion Chief Executive Mark Jenkins said: "I'm delighted to welcome QuickBooks on board as our new principal partner."

QuickBooks vice president and UK managing director Rich Preece, said: "We're thrilled to be forming a close partnership with West Bromwich Albion."

Jackett unclear on future of Doyle

KEVIN DOYLE has returned to Wolves with head coach Kenny Jackett insisting he will leave it until the last moment to decide whether to take him on pre-season tour.

Doyle was due back at Compton this week with Stephen Ward and Bakary Sako, who were given extra time off after playing in end-of-season internationals.

Wolves depart for a five-day tour of Ireland on Sunday, with the head coach admitting there won't be any surprises in his selection for the trip.

But while Ward is likely to be left behind as he looks to settle his future and Brighton looking like his destination, Doyle's seems more unclear, especially as Wolves are yet to sign a striker after missing out on Bournemouth-bound Callum Wilson.

Football

Wolves haven't received any enquiries for the one-time club-record £6m signing, despite QPR boss Harry Redknapp saying he wanted to sign the 30-year-old who he had on loan last season.

Jackett said: "It's pretty much the first team squad from the end of last season - it looks pretty much set that way. As for Kevin, I don't know yet. It very much depends on what happens."

"I'll see what type of offers Kevin has and where he sees things progressing. I'll assess it as I go along. But I won't hesitate to use him if I think it's the right thing."

"In terms of the group and the squad for Ireland, I'll keep it open right up until the end."

Doyle briefly figured among the 'bomb squad' of unwanted players last summer before working his way back into favour. "I wouldn't hesitate with any of them if I think it's the right thing to use them, particularly centre-forwards," said the boss. "I'll keep open on that one (Doyle) and won't make a decision right now."

"The players' options, the players' views and the options from our point of view, will all be taken into consideration. But it's very quiet - we haven't had any enquiries."

"I'll hold my judgement with regards to Kevin and I'll speak to him this week."

As the friendlies start, Wolves are away to Cheltenham Town on Friday, kickoff 7.45pm before heading to Ireland to play Shamrock Rovers on Monday.

Aussie helps city XI move Upward

FIFTH-PLACED Lichfield remain in the title hunt after a five-wicket success against Pelsall.

Australian overseas player Dan Upward proved his reputation as an all-rounder, claiming 4-44 off 13.1 overs to skittle the recent Premier Division leaders to 151 all out in 45.1 overs, fellow Aussie Dean Price taking 4-23 off eight.

Upward then steered the Three Spires side to victory, hitting 55 not out as they reached their target in 38.4 overs.

Aldridge ended Hammerwich's recent impressive by inflicting a six-wicket defeat in a low-scoring game.

Extras was Hammerwich's top scorer with 24 as they scored only 125 all out in 38 overs. Will Steadman took 5-37 off 12.3 overs and Imran Jamshed 4-31 off 12.

Aldridge knocked off their target in just 31.1 overs.

Whittington romped to an eight-wicket victory over Rugeley, Matt Stone's 7-40 pegging Rugeley to 144 all out in 38.1 overs, number seven Sam Lefeaver's 31 the best they could muster.

Greg Hunt made 71 and captain Tris Tanner 37 as Whittington reached their total in 39.5 overs.

Wilson fee may have been stumbling block

KENNY JACKETT has hinted Wolves withdrew from the race to sign Callum Wilson because they didn't think he was worth £3m.

The 22-year-old striker was understood to be their No.1 target before he opted to join Bournemouth from Coventry for £3m at the weekend.

"If a player is there right now, or at any time, and we can get them at the right price, we'll do it," said Jackett.

Asked specifically about Wilson, the head coach said: "I'm not going to talk about other teams' players, and it's best to talk about our targets when we land them."

"But do we look to strengthen and have a scouting department that works all of the time? Yes we have."

"They have to know the market and have to make sure there's value for money on every single player."

Forward

"We don't want to miss anyone but we're not going to sign every player."

"We're very aware of the players being talked about; we were in League One last season and we got to know that league very well."

"If there are any players from there that can take us forward then fine."

Wolves have so far added two summer signings, out-of-contract pair Tommy Rowe and Rajiv Van La Parra. But Jackett maintains fans shouldn't worry about a lack of fresh faces as it's early in the transfer window and he rates the current squad too highly.

"I don't think people should be concerned," said the boss. "The group is very good and has started pre-season well and given myself a lot of optimism for the season."

"I don't want to be making any predictions or singing from the rooftops, but based on the last two weeks, I see a fit and hungry group looking forward to the challenge. It's an exciting time."

"If you're looking at a squad of 22 doing 11-a-side, it's a settled group where they know their jobs and are looking forward to what lies ahead."

Jackett said: "It's not a situation where there's a time when we have to sign a player."

"That's not to say the group is struggling or we have a lack of quality or attitude."

Jackett maintains the transfer market hasn't really got going yet. "It's been very quiet so far," he added. Wolves players were up with the larks this week for their early-morning run as they continued pre-season training.

This time, however, they swapped leafy Compton for Wolverhampton city centre, surprising commuters as they ran through the subway near Molineux.

Cook to serve up the goods, says Smith

Saddlers boss Dean Smith welcomes new signing Jordan Cook to the Banks's stadium

DEAN SMITH says new boy Jordan Cook has the hunger to serve up success at Walsall.

The 24-year-old forward became the Saddlers fourth signing of the summer when the boss persuaded him to put pen to paper on a two-year deal.

Cook is well known to supporters having made eight appearances - scoring one goal - when on loan from Premier League Sunderland in the final weeks of the 'Great Escape' campaign of 2010/11.

The hitman has spent the past two seasons in the Championship with Charlton Athletic, where he made just six starts and failed to find the net before being released earlier this summer.

But Smith believes he has the ability and attitude to be a success at the Banks's.

"Jordan will be the first to admit Charlton did not go as well as he wanted but I have spoken to the people there," said Smith. "We have done our due diligence on him even though we knew him from before."

"He was unfortunate, a few people down there thought he should have played in more games than he did but he is hungry."

"He has big ambitions and has a hunger and desire to come and score goals here and do well for himself."

Woffinden to lead the GB riders

TAI WOFFINDEN spearheads the 10-man Great Britain squad for speedway's World Cup announced by new team boss Alun Rossiter.

"Rosco" must select four for the big night at King's Lynn on Saturday, July 26.

Wolves' world champion Woffinden, already named as captain, looks sure to be an automatic selection along with Coventry's Chris Harris, the only other Briton currently riding in the Grand Prix series.

Beyond that, Rossiter faces some tough choices on the men to tackle Australia, the USA and the winners of Saturday's qualifying round at Terenzano, Italy which features the hosts, Russia, Germany and Slovenia.

Image of me unfair insists Villa No.2 Keane

NEW Villa assistant manager Roy Keane has insisted his reputation as a ranter and raver is unfair.

The Irishman, who will also continue as No.2 to Martin O'Neill with the Ireland squad, has been keen to make a return to the day-to-day workings of football since being sacked as Ipswich manager in January 2011.

Keane has had his fair share of bust-ups with the likes of Sir Alex Ferguson and Mick McCarthy, and the Sunderland players allegedly celebrated when they heard of his departure as manager.

But the former Manchester United skipper insists he will have no problem getting on with the Villa squad.

"I think it is a bit unfair but it doesn't keep me awake at night," he said when questioned about his reputation.

"I suppose it is part of the image which has been built up over the years, particularly through the media – although I have had one or two incidents.

"In terms of working with the players I've worked with lads over a long period of time without any issues but, having said that, you have to be ready to have disagreements with people particularly if you all want the same things."

Lambert keen on Bendtner

NICKLAS Bendtner has emerged as a shock Villa target as Paul Lambert continues to hunt in the bargain basement.

The former Arsenal striker is available on a free transfer after leaving the Emirates.

Bendtner has reportedly been offered a three-year deal by Eintracht Frankfurt but is keen to stay in the Premier League.

Boss Lambert is moving forward with his summer plans despite the departure of chief executive Paul Faulkner, who was crucial in transfer negotiations.

With Nicklas Helenius keen on a loan move to former club Aalborg, Villa need reinforcements. Helenius has become disillusioned with a lack of opportunities following his £1.2m arrival.

Lambert has so far signed Joe Cole and Philippe Senderos on free transfers

Mystery over chief executive's departure

MIDLANDS club in turmoil Aston Villa announced this week that chief executive Paul Faulkner had left the club.

Quite why is unclear. Within a statement of business jargon came the reason: "Having discussed his re-engaging with the chairman's broader business while remaining involved with Villa in a non-operational role, agreement could not be reached," writes Nick Mashiter

We live in multi-cultural society and sometimes it may be nice to see things in plain English, but then many of us have learned the word Shunammite from Randy

Football

Lerner this year. Every cloud.

Many would have expected Faulkner to stay on, at least until a takeover was imminent, so the timing of his departure is a surprise.

It is not linked to a buyout which leaves the situation open to future debate. It only adds to the fear the club continues to tread water, struggling to shake the limbo which has engulfed them.

Three years of relegation battles have seen Faulkner become a scapegoat for the Lerner regime. No-one had any issues when Villa were reaching cup finals and challenging for Europe but as the troubles grew so did the spotlight.

He is a decent and honest man who was always well-intentioned and his exit only serves to add to the uncertainty, not ease it.

Robin Russell, chief financial officer, has stepped in to try to achieve continuity and the day-to-day running of the club is unlikely to be affected. Villa insist it is business as usual – presumably because they have got used to a certain level of upheaval.

Assistant manager Ian Culverhouse and head of football operations Gary Karsa left in May, sacked for alleged bullying. There is little room for manoeuvre for manager Paul Lambert in the transfer market, as he again relies on free transfers and bargain buys.

And now an ally in Faulkner has left there must be a degree of sympathy for Lambert because he did not sign up for this.

The bright new dawn which many hoped to be around the corner is still yet to rise with Lerner struggling to find the quick sale he desired.

Many wanted Faulkner to leave with Lerner and they have got half of their wish.

Sako is tipped to stay put

KENNY JACKETT has given the biggest hint yet that Wolves could keep star winger Bakary Sako this season.

Wolves are braced for Premier League interest in the explosive Mali wide man, who has just a year left on his contract. But they are keen for the 26-year-old to stay and are yet to hear from any interested parties.

And head coach Jackett has tipped Sako, who has scored 21 goals in 77 League games in his two seasons at Molineux, to stay at Wolves and have another impressive campaign.

"Sako is here, he's a good player who's settled at the club and I think he'll play well for us this season," said the boss.

"Bakary came back on Monday and there are no problems. The last game he played was for Mali against Croatia on May 31.

"He then had a couple of weeks off and then did his running programme and feels good."

Jackett has a very healthy relationship with Sako, who recognises how the head coach has developed his game in the year they have worked together.

Lockmen pay for their errors

WILLENHALL Town 0 Walsall Wood 4

The Lockmen saw the standards they need to aspire to as a clinical Walsall Wood took advantage of defensive errors. Two back passes were punished in the first half. Slack marking cost two goals in the second. This Saturday Willenhall play Rushall, noon kickoff.

PITMEN EASE TO PRE-SEASON WIN

AFC Wulfrunians 0 Hednesford Town 4

DESPITE the raft of players coming in and out of Keys Park throughout the summer, it was a relatively familiar starting XI that began pre-season.

The Pitmen started their run up to the new campaign with a straightforward but nonetheless impressive victory against AFC Wulfrunians.

A heavy storm just prior to kick-off meant that the pitch, despite longer than usual grass, was ideal for the passing game of Kris Taylor, Tom Thorley and new boy James Hurst in midfield.

This proved to be the case as it was Taylor who opened the scoring on 22 minutes when he strode forward and swept a superb left footed shot into the net.

Doubled

Paul Sullivan could have doubled Hednesford's lead twice in a minute but he shot wide when through on goal and Danny Glover saw a goal ruled out before converting a sumptuous Darren Campion cross from the right just before the break.

Francino Francis replaced a rarely troubled Ben Bailey in central defence at half time and Sullivan finally got his goal when a brilliant one-two with Glover left him one-on-one with Jonno Brown to delightfully dink the ball into the net on 52 minutes.

Scott Stevenson forced a rare save from stand-in keeper Ryan Price as Wulfrunians tried to score a consolation and, as the hour mark approached, the Pitmen made a raft of substitutions.

James Osborne, Marvin Robinson and trialists James Johnson and James Clifton entered the fray and to no-one's surprise, except The Wulfrunians defence, it was Osborne who immediately played a superb disguised pass through for Robinson who should have scored.

Sullivan could have helped himself to at least three further goals but substitute keeper Brown was showing inspired form before the striker finally scored his second in the final proceedings of the game.

The Pitmen will look to build on this convincing start as they continue their preparations this Saturday with a local derby against Heath Hayes at the Coppice Colliery Ground, kick off at 3pm.

Hednesford Town: Price, Griffiths (Clifton 60), Campion (c), Bailey (Francis 45), McCone, Taylor (22) (Osborne 60), Melbourne (Johnson 60), Hurst, Glover (43) (Robinson 60), Sullivan (52, 79).

The kits are all white as away strip unveiled

Wolves players show off the new all-white away kit for 2014-15

WOLVES have taken the wraps off their new away kit – and it's one that will delight the traditionalists.

The club have opted to return to Wolves' long-term change kit of all white, with a black, button-down collar and black trim, through manufacturers Puma.

Wolves have moved back to their traditional away colours after the purple worn last season.

In recent seasons Wolves' away kit has been all black, white with red trim and teal. This is the first time it's reverted to all white with black trim since the 2009-10 season and has come after requests from many fans.

As with the new home strip, the club has ordered fewer away kits so supporters are being encouraged to move quickly to avoid disappointment. The shirts are available to order online now and they were in the megastores at Molineux and Dudley Street today.

Adult shirts are priced from £42 and junior shirts are from £30.

This week's megastore opening hours are: Molineux: Wednesday 9am-8pm, Thursday, Friday and Saturday 9am-5pm, Sunday 10am-4pm. Dudley Street: Wednesday, 9am-6pm, Thursday and Friday, 9am-6pm, Saturday, 9am-5pm, and Sunday 10am-4pm.
